4 To 6 More Inches Of Snow Forecast

Four to six inches of new snow will fall by evening, building a total accumulation that will range from 16 to 18 inches in a region already almost paralyzed by a storm of near blizzard proportions, the Ohio weatherman said today.

Street and highway maintenance crews throughout the Tri-State District battled today to restore traffic as an aftermath of a 12-inch accumulation that built up overnight.

VIRTUALLY every school district in the area suspended classes because of the storm. Most other workaday activity ground to a halt as the district concentrated on the job of digging out.

High winds this afternoon will continue to pile the snow into drifts, particularly in exposed rural regions, the weatherman said.

With the snow still falling this morning, the accumulation was measured officially at over 12 inches. In rural areas, drifts two to three feet were common, blocking secondary roads in many instances.

Exertion Takes Life Of Cumberland Man

An elderly New Cumberland man died this morning after suffering a heart attack apparently brought on by exertion of walking in the heavy snow.

Ralph Morrison of Ridge Ave., retired supervisor of Tomlinson Run State Park in Pughtown, was pronounced dead on arrival at Weirton General Hospital. Services are being arranged by the Turley Funeral Home in New Cumberland.

Throughout Ohio, the snow ranged from 5 to 10 inches. Winds ranging from 20 to 30 miles an hour caused heavy drifting.

TRAFFIC moved at a crawl

Most Area Schools Close

this morning — where it moved at all — and many secondary streets and highways were virtually impassable.

The storm began early Sunday afternoon and grew in intensity throughout the night. By late afternoon, driving conditions were hazardous. They became steadily worse throughout the night.

With very few exceptions, school districts throughout the region canceled classes today. Among those affected were these systems:

EAST LIVERPOOL, Hancock County, Wellsville, Beaver Local, Fairfield - Waterford, Southern Local, United Local, Stanton Local, Salem, Lisbon village, Southern Beaver County Joint Schools and the East Palestine system.

Classes also were suspended at the St. Aloysius and Immaculate Conception Parochial Schools in East Liverpool and Wellsville, the Ohio Valley Business College and the Retarded Children's School at Elkton.

MIDLAND CLASSES were dismissed today when only 30 per cent of the student body and a few teachers showed up for classes. Dr. Ralph H. Jewell, superintendent, reported. He said classes will be held Tuesday as usual.

At 7 a. m., nine inches of snow was recorded at Mansfield and Marietta, eight inches at Dayton, Akron and Youngstown, seven inches at Cleveland, Piketon, Chillicothe and Findlay and six inches at Columbus, Cincinnati and Zanesville.

THE STATE highway Department garage at Leontonia reported at 7 a. m. that all main arteries were passable after crews worked throughout the night to plow away the deep snow.

Seventeen crews were operating trucks equipped with snow plows and a grader also was pressed into service.

The department said repeated plowing was necessary in many areas to maintain traffic because the snow drifted back onto the roads after the pavement had been cleared.

THE DEPARTMENT did not attempt to use salt or ashes on the snow after the accumulation became deep. In deep snow, the ashes and salt are churned into the deep accumulation without effect.

The Highway Department garage reported all primary roads had been scraped as early as 7 this morning, but it conceded that travel conditions still were "not good."

But drifting was not so severe in the northern end of the county, a spokesman said. The accumulation at Leontonia was estimated at 12 inches at dawn, with the storm continuing.

THE HIGHWAY Department crews were called out at 4:15 p. m. Sunday and worked throughout the night. The men expected to remain on duty all day and possibly into tonight.

In East Liverpool, the street department crews were called at 3 p. m. Sunday. Ashes and salt were used at first, but the snow soon became too deep for the chemicals or cinders to have any effect.

The city crews worked throughout the night and remained on duty today.

THE CITY crews concentrated principally on use of two truck-mounted snow plows, churning through the deep accumulation on the major thoroughfares.

The snow accumulation in the city also was estimated at 12 inches at dawn.

Some of the major arteries that had been covered by the snow plows by dawn were: St. Clair Ave., the Freeway inside the city limits, W. 8th St., E. 5th St. and sections of Pennsylvania Ave.

AT MILLPORT, Edwin Cope-land, U. S. weather observer, measured an accumulation of 4 to 6 inches. The storm apparently only sideswiped the Millport area, although Copeland said that the snow drifted all night and threatened trouble on secondary roads.

The storm was unusual in that it blew in from the east, although most drifting snows come from the west, he pointed out.

George VanHorne, executive head of Beaver Local School District, said drifts as high as four feet covered some back roads such as Cream Ridge Rd. and Birch Rd.

The Wintersville State Highway Patrol near Steubenville said the main highways are open on a limited basis. Officers explained heavy drifting closes the highways in some spots or allows only one-way traffic. Most of the county roads and secondary state roads are closed, officers said.

SEVERAL traffic tieups have been reported — one which lasted for two hours.

Loss Of $50,000 Seen After Blaze In Rogers School

Beaver Local school officials today were making arrangements to provide classrooms for some 120 Rogers School first graders who were displaced by a heat explosion which wrecked the interior of the new addition at the school sometime Sunday afternoon.

Damage was estimated unofficially at about $50,000 in the searing blast, which charred walls, floor tile and furniture in the addition at the north end of the older school building.

The addition houses four classrooms and a kitchen.

THE KITCHEN area still was smoldering when Mrs. Verna Kunkle of Rogers, custodian, discovered the results of the blast about 6:15 p. m.

Rogers and Negley firemen were summoned to extinguish the embers of wooden shelves and plaster particles.

Initial investigation indicated the tremendous heat stemmed from failure of the blowers on the coal furnace heating system, apparently due to an electric power outage in the area.

THE HEAT accumulated, then exploded, ripping open heating pipes, lifting the kitchen's ceiling and twisting grill work—but not breaking a single window, according to George VanHorne, executive head of the school district.

One of the vents on the kitchen door was blown out, he said. The acoustic tile on one classroom was torn. Walls were charred and asphalt floor tile melted in places elsewhere.

The boiler room is located on the North end of the older building. The damaged addition includes two classrooms and the kitchen built in 1959 and two newer classrooms, built in 1961.

VANHORNE said Mrs. Kunkle checked the school and heating system about 12:30 p. m. Sunday and everything was in good order. When she returned to the school in the early evening, she found the structure so full of acid smoke she hardly could enter.

She notified VanHorne immediately, and he, finding the shelves in the kitchen storage

5 Crewmen Missing

Bomber Crashes In Appalachians

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—A huge Air Force jet bomber crashed and burned in a snowstorm in the Appalachian Mountains of western Maryland early today.

It was not known if any of the five crewmen survived.

Rescue teams were balked by snow-clogged roads. Heavy plows were called in to try to open a path to the crash scene on Elbow Mountain, a 3,000-foot peak, about 20 miles east of Cumberland.

The temperature was near zero. Snow was more than a foot deep and drifting.

The aircraft, an eight-engine B52, was en route from Westover Air Force Base, Mass., to its home station at Turner AFB, Ga., when it went down in the swirling snowstorm.

It left Westover at 12:48 a.m. EST and was due at Turner at 3:15 a.m.

Capt. Paul Clevenger of the Civil Air Patrol, said a crewman on the plane radioed Washington and told of extreme turbulence at 29,000 feet.

The crewman got permission to fly at 33,000 feet, Clevenger said.

At 31,000 feet, he said there was a garbled radio transmission "stating something about bailing out."

Extra Water Pumping Cut At Wellsville

The severe weather has forced a halt in pumping operations at a strip mine pit to provide water for Wellsville, Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare said today.

Pumping was started Friday morning at the pits above the reservoir, which has reached a critically low stage, with only about nine days' supply left. The director said the pumping probably will be halted two or three days, until the weather abates.

A small trickle of water is feeding into the reservoir, but residents were asked to be especially conservative now that the temporary supply has been shut off.

The operations were continued through the night, but conditions

DOWNTOWN SNOW SCENE. Two youngsters gleefully frolic in a huge mound of snow piled up on E. 5th St. this morning by the street department scraper, while traffic inches by and pedestrians watch the snow removal efforts in the background. It was rough going for motorists and pedestrians alike this morning. Business employees walking to their jobs downtown moved slowly over treacherous "one-way" sidewalk trails until they reached sections cleared by snow shovels.

Aides Return To U.S. Embassy

U.S., Panama Agree On Plan To Keep Peace In Canal Zone

PANAMA (AP)—Amid some signs of diminishing tension between the United States and Panama, U.S. personnel returned today to the embassy building in downtown Panama.

Diplomatic sources reported that the United States and Panama agreed to set up a joint authority with the Organization of American States in an effort to keep peace along the restive Canal Zone border.

But agreement on machinery for the peace-keeping operation remained to be worked out in a final meeting of the OAS mission with U.S. and Panama representatives before the mission returns to Washington.

U.S. personnel quit the embassy building and burned secret papers Saturday, fearing that the building might become a target for anti-U.S. demonstrations.

Panama has broken relations with the United States and demanded guarantees for revision of the 61-year-old Panama Canal treaty in the wake of U.S.-Panamanian clashes on the Canal Zone border.

The five-man delegation from the OAS arranged for a final meeting today to settle technical details for the peace authority proposed by Argentina.

Informants said the United States and Panama would each have one military man and civilian on the authority, with a neutral OAS representative as chairman, Alfredo Vazquez Carrasco, Colombian ambassador to the OAS, has been proposed, they added.

Diplomatic sources said it had not been decided whether the peace-keeping group would use military or civilian forces to police the border area. It was said earlier that troops from both the United States and Panama might make up the patrols.

Edwin M. Martin, U.S. assistant secretary of state, represented the United States in the OAS negotiations and told newsmen at 1:55 a.m.: "We have made reasonable progress."

Galileo Solis, Panamanian foreign minister, said as he left the meeting: "Slowly we are marching forward."

United States representatives, Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, and Secretary of the Army Cyrus R. Vance, agreed to a Panamanian government request to remain here for a possible meeting today with Panama officials.

There was more violence Sunday in Colon, the Panamanian city on the Caribbean side of the canal. A Panamanian National Guardsman was killed and two others were wounded, bringing to 24 the death toll since a flag-raising incident in the Canal

Blizzard Chokes Roads Over Ohio, Northeastern U.S.

By The Associated Press
The blizzard that raged over Ohio Sunday and on through the night tied impassable knots in scores of traffic arteries as snowfall and high winds stacked up mountainous drifts.

All sectors of the Buckeye State found themselves snowed under and, in spots, snowbound. Dozens of school closings were ordered as early as Sunday night as officials got warning of the heavy accumulation.

The Highway Patrol reported many secondary roads and several main highways closed by early today and expected the number to multiply.

In McArthur, the community's postmaster for nearly 21 years, James Edgar Rosser, 68, was found dead of a heart attack which authorities said apparently was induced by shoveling snow. Arnold Lorenzen, 59, of Toledo, collapsed in a restaurant there and died of a heart attack after cleaning snow from his car.

By 1 a.m. six-inch snow depths prevailed in the Dayton, Cincinnati and Springfield areas, while Columbus had five inches, Cleveland and Canton four and Toledo and Youngstown three. Marietta had at least seven inches.

At least two inches more was expected before the storm figured to let up during the day. In some places there was a good possibility of one foot of snow within a 24-hour period.

City and country alike were almost powerless to clear away the tons of snow from streets and roads with any lasting effect. Winds whistling in gusts of anywhere from 20 to 50 miles per hour quickly redistributed the powdery blanket, often right back on the pavement.

Travelers found themselves stranded in many rural areas Sunday if their vehicles stalled or snowdrifts blocked their route. Wreckers and other assistance just couldn't reach them. Many a motorist had to put up at a farmhouse.

The storm moved in from the west, and Cincinnati and Southwest Ohio felt its effects perhaps the worst Sunday night—before the storm moved over the rest of the state.

Sunday traffic was snarled miserably on the Queen City's hilly streets. Many streets were declared hazardous and barricaded. Police reported five times

It's No Wonderland

'Vast Wasteland' Left After Snow

The entire East Liverpool area became a vast white wasteland today in the wake of a snow storm that brought an end to most workaday activity.

Parking Ban Slated For Snow Removal

Car owners were urged today by Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey to find off - street spaces for their autos tonight to speed snow removal in the downtown area.

Vodrey said parking will be restricted and all city equipment will be pressed into service, including a high-lift, two snow plows and two graders. The city also is considering hiring private equipment to aid in the removal.

Motorists who ventured onto streets and highways en route to work in the pre - dawn hours found they were trail-breakers in a real sense of the word.

Pedestrians, too, had to plough their own paths, even in the heart of the business district.

ALTHOUGH the "official" depth of the snow was approximately 12 inches in the immediate East Liverpool district, drifts ranged up to two or three feet in exposed sections of the rural area. There were deep drifts in the downtown area also.

There were a few beaten tracks in downtown East Liverpool early this morning, but in most instances motorists had to break their own paths by main force.

The going was comparatively easy, for instance, on the Freeway and E. and W. 3rd St. but most of the other main arteries were simply an unbroken white expanse.

PEDESTRIANS took to the middle of the street, following

Court Hits Louisiana Candidates Race Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court struck down today a Louisiana law requiring designation on election ballots of the race of candidates for all elective offices in the state.

The decision was given on an appeal by two Negroes who were unsuccessful candidates for nomination as school board members of East Baton Rouge Parish in a Democratic primary election of July 28, 1962.

Snow Ties Up Activity

Many Meetings Canceled As Storm Snarls Traffic

Groups throughout the Tri-State District today announced postponement or cancellation of scheduled meetings after the heavy snow storm made travel all but impossible.

Some of the sessions were called off indefinitely. But other organizations hopefully set new dates, expecting travel conditions to return to normal within a few days.

The Social Security office on Dresden Ave. was closed today, as was the city income tax office.

The Fire-Fighters Local postponed until Jan. 20 a meeting it had scheduled tonight.

Wellsville White Shrine of Jerusalem 21 will hold a business meeting, but all other activities scheduled tonight have been canceled, officers announced.

The Wellsville Board of Education postponed its meeting from tonight until next Monday night at 7:30.

A meeting of the Hancock County Board of Education slated tonight has been postponed to Jan. 20, Dr. W. Dale Williams, president, announced.

The Hancock County Court-house closed before noon today for lack of business and to provide employees with a chance to get an early start for home.

William C. Graham of Chester, president of County Court, authorized Mrs. Mary Stewart, county clerk, to close the building.

The bi-monthly meeting of all Columbiana County Grange officers scheduled for High-landtown Grange tonight has been called off because of the weather, according to Charles L. Morlan, deputy master.

A meeting of the Triangle Amateur Radio Club slated tonight has been canceled, D. G. Wilkison, president, announced. The club will meet Jan. 27.

The meeting of the Newell Wells Junior High Parent-Teacher Association set Tuesday night has been canceled.

Only 21 persons were at work at the Courthouse in Lisbon this morning and only nine of the offices were open at 11 a. m. The meeting of the East Liverpool Shrine Club slated for tonight has been canceled.

Executive Decries

Old Auto On $10 Bill

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Airline executive R. W. Gable has written his congressman to suggest that it's time the ancient automobile depicted on the U. S. $10 bill was taken off the street.

He said in a letter to Rep. Claude Pepper D-Fla.: "I wonder if the person who owns the 1927 Hupmobile or whatever he's driving past the U. S. Treasury building couldn't be persuaded to trade it in on a slightly newer model or possibly get it off the street altogether?"

ment crews at Chester worked the entire night in an effort to keep the streets open. The men continued working today.

Two snowplows cleared State Route 213 between Yellow Creek and Hammondsville at 10 Sunday night, helping many Iron-dale-Hammondsville area residents make it to work on time this morning.

SEVERAL residents of the communities in Jefferson County said the hardest part of their trip was the long grade on the four-lane stretch of Route 7 out-side of Wellsville, where a couple of trucks were hung up in the snow.

The State Highway Patrol at Lisbon said all highways are considered hazardous.

In many cases, there is one-way traffic because of drifting snow. No major tieups were reported during the night, although officers said there was a snarl at the intersection of Routes 30 and 170 at Calcutta early today.

JESS SELMON, Chester water works superintendent, asked residents to keep the snow cleared away from the fire hydrants in their neighborhoods so they can be found easily in event of a fire.

The Hancock County sheriff's office said all main highways in the county had been plowed but still were hazardous.

Secondary roads for the most part remain closed, and the sheriff's office said it is doubtful if they will be opened in time to allow school bus traffic Tuesday.

ENFORCEMENT of parking meter regulations was suspended today by Mayor Merrill D. Hall and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey as the city officials began to cope with the deep snow.

A city highlift was working on the north side of E. 5th St. between Washington and Market Sts. this morning, piling up snow for later removal by trucks.

Motorists quickly took advantage of the cleared areas to park their autos.

HALL said Tom Chema, president of the East Liverpool High School Key Club, had volunteered the club's services in clearing entrances to City Hospital and the Osteopathic Hospital.

The telephone in the combined office of the mayor and director kept ringing constantly this morning with calls for help in getting snow removed from streets.

Vodrey, starting his first day on the job, found a major job

But Aggravate Problem

Democrats Hike Number Of Convention Delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic party has taken a big step toward solving one of its convention problems, that of proportionate representation. But another problem has, if anything, been aggravated.

The party began in 1952 to ignore the fact that some states were growing and others were losing population. The result: Some smaller states had a disproportionately loud voice in the convention.

There were two ways to correct this situation: Take votes away from some states or give votes to others. The first seemed too painful. So Saturday the Democratic National Committee approved a vote allocation formula for the 1964 convention which recognizes both population and zeal for the party—and greatly increases the number of votes to be cast.

But the other problem, size of the convention, is thornier than ever. To cast the 2,316 votes authorized for the August convention, the committee approved 3,056 delegates and 2,208 alternates. This means that about 5,264 of them will be floating around Atlantic City's mammoth Convention Hall, compared with 4,509 four years ago in Los Angeles.

awaiting when he arrived at his City Hall office. REFUSE collections in Wellsville have been canceled, according to Safety - Service Director Fred Baldasare. He said the street crews did not work the entire night as it proved almost futile to try to keep ahead of the heavy accumulation of snow. Ashes and salt did not do much good, he commented. The men are using the small street grader to keep the main thoroughfares open.

Sanitation Showpiece CORAL GABLES, Fla. (AP) — A large round tank adorned with murals puzzles many passers-by here. Questioners learn that it belongs to the Coral Gables sewage treatment plant. Cleaning Of Statues Described As Mistake MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Landscape architect Kingo Sakamoto says Miami is making a mistake by cleaning up the granite statues in its Japanese garden. The garden was donated by Tokyo industrialist Kiyoshi Ichimura as a gesture of friendship and was designed by Sakamoto. "Don't scrub the granite statues," Sakamoto said during a recent visit to inspect his handiwork. "Let the moss grow on them. It is a sign of antiquity and age revered in the Orient."

Burning Soot Blamed After Fire In Home

Wind was blamed for a fire this morning at the home of Robert Christen, 918 Riley Ave., one of four calls responded to by firemen since Saturday.

Firemen said soot in one flue ignited and came out the chimney, but the wind blew it down another flue from an old fireplace. The burning soot set fire to the floor joists.

Firemen said they had a difficult time in determining where the fire was because of the unusual circumstance. They received the alarm at 9:22 a. m.

A sprinkler system was credited with stopping a fire in the machine shop of Patterson Foundry & Machine Co. on St. George St. Sunday afternoon.

Firemen said an extension cord leading to a steel cabinet shorted out and ignited the wall and two cabinets, but the automatic sprinkler went off, keeping the fire under control until the department arrived.

Firemen said the extension cord led to a cabinet where carbon rods are kept dry.

Firemen were called to the home of Ellie Lowers, 142 Laurel Ln., at 2:40 a. m. today after the furnace thermostat stuck at 85 degrees and the householder feared the home might catch fire from the intense heat.

The department was called to the home of George Kilmer, 317 Market St., at 5:16 p. m. Saturday when a skillet ignited and set fire to a wood cabinet above the range. The fire was out when the department arrived although the wood continued to smoulder, firemen said.

Firemen were called to the home of George Bennett, 1909 Harvey Ave., at 4:45 p. m. Sunday to turn off the water because of a defective hot water tank.

We Must Face The Truth

President Johnson seems to be endorsing in his public statements a proposition that could lead Americans into a blind alley.

He is emphasizing the importance of education as a prime means of getting rid of poverty. All well and good. But when a national spokesman speaks of education as if it could eliminate poverty, he is doing a disservice to education. Upward of half of the family heads of the nation who are classified in the poverty group dropped out of school at the 8th grade level, or less. This estimate is used carelessly to make it appear that if they had not dropped out of school they would have become educated and able to support themselves and their families. This proposition could lead Americans into a blind alley.

Many students drop out of school because they are unable to learn. Though it is true that many who drop out could benefit by staying in, many who fail to stay in had nothing to gain. They were incapable of absorbing further education. Worse than that, some had been incapable of absorbing any education at all. They were carried along as school pupils because there was nothing else to do with them.

It is silly and misleading to ignore this when talking about the connection between education and national uplift. Hundreds of thousands of Americans in trouble now and other hundreds of thousands heading into trouble are incapable of qualifying themselves through education to work at jobs which can be performed only by educated people.

There always has been and always will be a hard core of people who cannot be educated. Failure to acknowledge their existence, combined with the preposterous supposition that if all of them kept going to school they would overcome their handicap, is a disservice to education.

Uncle Sam Without Flaw?

No one disagrees with the U.S. State Department's wry comment that the sale of 450 motor buses to the government of Cuba by a British manufacturer "does not help our effort to isolate the Cuban regime."

But before jumping to the conclusion that Britain is showing hostility to the United States by permitting the transaction, we need to remember two things.

First, the United Kingdom is participating in no boycott of Cuba and therefore is doing nothing out of the ordinary. One of its manufacturers won the Cuban bid in open competition with bidders from many other countries for buses to replace U.S.-made buses for which Cuba can buy no spare parts in this country. The United States, of course, wasn't bidding. Second, the United Kingdom has been accustomed to this country's habit of condemning it and its people for doing the same things the United States and its people do in similar circumstances.

The United States is willing to sell wheat to the Soviet Union, which is certainly more significantly helpful to Communism than selling motor buses to Cuba.

It carries on trade with Poland and Yugoslavia.

It was openly helpful to Irish rebels and Indian revolutionaries, to Britain's annoyance.

It gave vital assistance to the Japanese when they were threatening Hong Kong. It helped to rehabilitate Germany after World War I and now is rehabilitating it again.

Sale of British-made buses to Cuba "does not help our effort to isolate the Cuban regime." But from a British viewpoint, when did Uncle Sam earn the right to expect other nations to be without flaw in isolating regimes unfriendly to its interests?

Sale To Minors

The matter of illegal liquor sales along Route 30 on the West Virginia side of the Ohio River again has been called to our attention.

There's no question that such a practice persists openly in spots. The disturbing thing is that sales to minors is reported to be taking place in some cases. Whether this is true or not, we don't know. But we do know this, adult patronage of such establishments is bad enough, but should it turn out those under age also are being served the situation would be even worse.

The Review is still 100 per cent for cleaning up the whole mess — illegal liquor sales and gambling — but if such practices can't be wiped out with one sweep of the broom, law enforcement officers at least could declare all-out war on sales to minors, if such a situation exists.

When corruption of our youth is involved, there's need for action. An investigation is in order as quickly as possible.

Letter From Max

Dear Truman Twill:

Now that the nation is embarked on a presidential election year and the electorate faces the solemn responsibility of choosing a leader who can affect the course of world history for generations, you should make an extra effort to keep your sense of perspective.

For instance, you are going to be hearing a lot of bad things about the "left" and the "right."

The way some people put it, the right would abolish the left and the left would abolish the right.

But you can see where that would leave us. How would you like to hop around on only your right or left leg all the time?

And if you are right-handed, you would have to switch to left-handed to please some of the vociferous partisans.

THEN THERE ARE the political speakers who are always late for their engagements because (1) they never turn to the right and have to travel a long way around to their destination, or (2) they never turn to the left for fear of criticism and have to get to their destination with right turns only.

The left would have us salute with our left hand, and the right would abolish the emphasis on the left foot in marching. To say nothing about placing the right hand on the Bible when taking an oath, or our custom of shaking hands.

You can see how complicated the whole thing could be.

IF THE BUSINESS of choosing a president weren't so serious, you could regard the entire campaign as silly. The tumult and the shouting won't die until next November.

It is always reassuring to remember that opposing candidates try to seem as different as possible from each other, but when they arrive at the center of power they often seem closer together.

An easy way to remember this, to put it simply, is that the campaign is like a centrifuge with the political opponents whirling around separating themselves from each other, but once they are elect-

The Water Supply

East Liverpool, because of the abundant water supply offered by the Ohio River, has been fortunate enough to escape the problem now being faced by our neighbors in Wellsville.

Because of the drought, the hillside watershed that serves the Wellsville reservoir has not provided the runoff necessary for an adequate amount of water.

Our best wishes for a "speedy recovery" in the present dilemma go to the city of Wellsville. When the water supply fades, major problems spring up.

The Wellsville water system has advantages, including that of providing as good drinking water as one would want. But despite the fact that such a drought as we have been experiencing occurs only at rare intervals, it seems that in any long-range water program Wellsville should look to the river as a more practical approach.

Even with the drought, those who depend on the Ohio have encountered little difficulty so far as water is concerned.

Tough Struggle

Labor Studies Corporation Move

By Victor Riesel

A dramatic new labor policy is being developed by the labor leader who fought for the 4-hour day for his men, accepted a 5-hour schedule but will, I believe, sooner or later renew his fight for a 20-hour week. He is a silver-haired, soft-voiced Harry Van Arsdale, Jr., leader of the famed New York Electrical Workers' Local No. 3 and of this city's million-member Central Labor Council.

Pacemaker Van Arsdale is concerned about the strength of diversified firms which are merged into one strong central corporation. He voiced no particular opposition to these mergers when he spoke the other evening. But he is developing a formula for joining unions in different parts of the land together to deal as a bloc with what he refers to as, this new industrial power.

Typical of the corporations which have stirred Mr. Van Arsdale into action is "Company X." It started as a tire manufacturer. It still turns out millions of them, but it has acquired subsidiaries in the motion picture field, radio broadcasting, aero-space industries, television, chemicals and plastics.

THERE IS ANOTHER corporation which started as an anthracite coal mine. Today it is so diversified that it owns motion picture theaters, leather processing plants, wearing apparel shops, toy factories, oil and gas installations and aluminum and steel foundries.

It also manufactures rope, textiles, upholstery, hardware and even sporting goods.

Van Arsdale believes such diversification and mergers are an increasing trend.

"This creates a problem for labor," he said. "Suppose one subsidiary of such a central corporation was in dispute with its union. The conflict over a contract could result in a strike at that one plant. The central holding corporation could afford to sit tight, let labor strike one of the company's lines of business and still survive handsomely because it would be drawing profits from its other subsidiaries.

"These other plants in other fields are also manned by union members. Therefore, one section of labor would be helping to defeat the strike of another section. The stoppage could run on and on. The striking union would be hurt and the central corporation would never feel it."

AS AN EXAMPLE he cited a company which starts as a railroad and goes into the clothing business or buys a drug store. If the latter were struck and the rail line ran, he says, the pickets could be out there forever.

To counter the strength of the central holding corporations, Van Arsdale has been working on a plan to create central labor councils of all those unions dealing with the one diversified corporation.

Thus in the case of the tire company, a joint council would be made up of the auto union, the machinists' association, the chemical workers and the broadcasting and actors' unions.

This central council, which would be a new type of operation, would have member unions drawn from across the country. They could act in unison. Van Arsdale would have it meet directly with the president or chairman of the board of the central company which owns the controlling stock of the others.

This, he conjectured, would lead to industrial peace. He believes that, by making the views of the joint council known to the board chairman who now sees "only" the accountants' reports, the top executive would get to understand the local problems which exist thousands of miles from the New York financial center.

HE DISAGREED with me when I conjectured that this might lead to strike action in, say, 50 cities, if a big diversified firm continued to resist in one community.

A joint council, involved in a coal mine dispute, might find itself threatening to strike the central company's broadcasting network or railroad.

Van Arsdale also believes that unions dealing with a single company which has scores of plants in one industry dispersed across the country should form a joint council. There is one electrical manufacturing corporation which deals with 100 unions. They don't work together. They bargain separately.

Van Arsdale wants them to start conferring in a common council. He also sees the need for councils of unions whose members are employed by firms which have overseas plants and subsidiaries.

On Jan. 16, the New York City Central Labor Council will firm up such suggestions under Van Arsdale's guidance.

This strategy for national and even global action will be dispatched to the AFL-CIO high council session scheduled for Feb. 17. There, Van Arsdale expects it to become new national policy for a new era.

Political Naivete

By David Lawrence

Wishful Thinking Dominates Voter Picture

Somebody is fooling somebody on the American political scene. Surely the Southerners haven't suddenly given up their stand on civil rights. Nor have the radical liberals in the North overnight become conservatives.

But if the public opinion polls are right, the South and the North have undergone quite a political change since Lyndon Johnson became president.

It doesn't seem logical that, just because Mr. Johnson comes from the South, the voters there now favor the civil rights bill sponsored by the Kennedy administration, while the liberals in the North coincidentally believe that President Johnson will defend and support the policies of his predecessor on labor relations and other issues which have caused businessmen to feel in the last three years that the Democratic party was veering toward socialism.

Both sides cannot be right about President Johnson's attitudes. Yet the public opinion polls in recent days have shown a sharp drop-off for the Republicans and big rise for the Democrats since President Johnson took office on Nov. 22, 1963.

Last September, for instance, the Gallup Poll showed Mr. Kennedy with a rating of 58 per cent for the entire country against 37 per cent for Goldwater, and of 57 per cent against Nixon, and of 57 per cent against Goldwater's 37 per cent. Today the nationwide showing in the latest Gallup Poll reveals Johnson as getting 75 per cent as against 20 per cent for Goldwater, and 69 per cent for Johnson to 24 per cent for Nixon.

IN THE SOUTH the change is even more striking. There, in September Mr. Kennedy got 57 per cent of the "decided" voters, in a trial heat against Nixon but only 44 per cent when matched against Goldwater. Today, in the South, Johnson is recorded at 70 per cent as against 24 per cent for Goldwater, with 6 per cent undecided.

Against Nixon in the South, Johnson shows a rating of 68 per cent, Nixon 23 per cent, 9 per cent undecided. Immediately it will be assumed that Mr. Johnson is more popular throughout the country than Mr. Kennedy was last autumn and that this is especially true today in the South.

On what is such a change based? Certainly Mr. Nixon hasn't said anything to cause the change, and neither has Sen. Goldwater.

The answer must be in the opinion formed in all sections of the country by many people that President Johnson will not support all the Kennedy policies and will eventually go over to the other side on many points.

There is nothing as yet in the utterances of Mr. Johnson to justify any such assumption. The Northern Democrats, especially some of the extremist organizations which boast of their liberalism and anti-conservatism, are taking it for granted that Mr. Johnson will base his appeal to the country on a wholehearted acceptance of the Kennedy policies.

Politically speaking, he could hardly repudiate the acts and programs put into operation by the Democratic administration from Jan. 20, 1962, to Nov. 22, 1963, and still retain the support of all the so-called liberals in the North and West.

ON THE REPUBLICAN side, incidentally, there also is found evidence in the North of a feeling that Mr. Johnson will turn out to be as liberal as Mr. Kennedy.

Thus, some of the Republican political observers in the Northern states have openly indicated their belief that Mr. Goldwater, an outspoken conservative, is no longer strong, that conservatism is less popular than it was a couple months ago, and that the time has come to turn toward the liberal views expounded by Gov. Rockefeller and, to some extent, by some of the other aspirants for the Republican nomination.

In the South and in some business circles in the North the reasoning is just the other way—that Mr. Johnson is basically conservative and, in due time, will turn out to be a genuine conservative. This would perhaps be more evident after the election, when he presumably would no longer need liberal support.

Is conservatism more of an issue than civil rights? Sen. Goldwater himself thinks so. On Meet the Press last Sunday, he told the TV audience that in the South the issue of conservative fiscal policy, for instance, is considered more important than civil rights. The Arizona senator said:

"I will make a prediction to you. I believe that, when the civil rights bill comes to the floor, it will contain the public accommodations section."

"I think we will go through the gestures of a filibuster and the President will go through the gestures of fighting for the bill, but at a critical point a compromise will be reached where the public accommodations section will be dropped, with the approval of the President."

WOULDN'T THIS mean losing the enthusiastic support of the Negro voters and of the various liberal groups in the North?

Maybe the public-opinion polls will tell a different story than as the Johnson popularity figure surges upward in some sections and drops in others.

Certain groups are doubtless going to find themselves disappointed. If, for instance, the President sticks to the Kennedy policies, he may find his Southern support materially reduced.

About all that can be said now is that public-opinion polls are a measure of the state of mind of the people at a given time and not a forecast of the result of a nominating convention or an election several months in the future.

The "state of mind" today is one really of wishful thinking—that the new administration will somehow make vital decisions on highly controversial issues and yet satisfy everybody.

Letter To The Editor

I am writing in reference to the letter of criticism of Sharon McCarty which appeared in the Jan. 4 Review.

I cannot say that I agree wholeheartedly with the Dec. 30 letter of Mr. Torrence, but regardless, I cannot find anything in the letter which should "appall" anyone. I would rather think of it as a letter written by an average American stating his personal convictions.

Miss McCarty was much too severe in her criticism of both Mr. Torrence and The Review. Who are we to judge their wisdom? But more important, is the fact that Mr. Torrence took advantage of his constitutional rights. He stepped forward and spoke his mind. He did not expect everyone to agree with him. It is this type person who made our country what it is today. You may not agree, but you will discuss, and from discussion come ideas.

In writing this it is not my intention to endorse Mr. Torrence's policies, but rather his deed. We need public opinion. We could not survive effectively without it.

Farm Agent's Report

Abundant Meat Supplies Bring Favorable Prices

Abundant supplies of meat mean good news for consumer—the law of supply and demand is helping hold retail prices down — according to Ed Watkins, market information agent with the Agriculture Extension Service in Canfield.

Live animal prices are considerably below levels of a year ago, but marketings of cattle and hogs remain high, Watkins said.

Egg prices have been going up due in part to a dip in production brought on by extreme cold weather in some areas as well as a good demand for eggs. During the past month, egg prices rose 8-10 cents per dozen. A turn in this price trend may be in store as production in the early weeks of 1964 is expected to be equal to or slightly above the 1963 output. If this occurs, January prices are likely to drop back 3-4 cents per dozen from present levels.

Thus far the weather in the states supplying most of our fresh vegetables has been good. Freezing temperatures recently hit vegetable producing areas in Texas; damage was light, but the crop may have been delayed.

Supplies from the winter producing states are arriving on the market and the volume will be increasing. Currently increased supplies are resulting in lower prices on such items as cabbage, carrots, cauliflower, cucumbers, collards, iceberg lettuce, peppers, radishes and tomatoes. Most other vegetables are relatively unchanged in price.

Our vegetable in peak supply during January is broccoli and the winter production of this crop is expected to be almost double that of 1963.

Both Bibb and leaf lettuce from Ohio greenhouses are on the market in fair supply with the quality appearing to be excellent.

If you are looking for a budget saver, then potatoes may be the choice. Potatoes are still the most plentiful vegetable on the market with supplies for fall and winter larger than a year ago and thus once again in excess of market requirements.

Currently the most favorable fruit item supply-wise, and generally price-wise, is apples. The 1963 apple crop of approximately 123 million bushels is 2 percent below last year's crop, but 1 percent above the 1957-61 average.

In Coming Primary And Election

Taft Faces Toughest Battle To Date

By WILLIAM S. VANCE
Review Correspondent

If the value of a good political name could be measured in cash, Ohio's Robert Taft Jr. would be worth millions.

Among the first to admit how valuable the Taft name has been is Robert Taft himself whose political career thus far has paralleled closely that of his late father, Sen. Robert A. Taft.

But this year, as young Bob Taft goes gunning for the U.S. Senate seat in which his father rose to national fame as "Mr. Republican," the asset of his popular name may be taxed as never before.

The 46-year-old Cincinnati has put himself in line for what bodes to be the toughest battle of his 10 years in public office and one which will be a highlight of Ohio's 1964 election drama.

Although the Taft name will be working for him as it has in the past, the political trail blazed by his father doesn't look quite so wide and smooth as it did when Bob Jr. breezed into Congress two years ago.

STANDING IN THE path is another formidable vote-getter with a popular name of his own in Ohio politics — Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

The secretary so far has not been counted as a serious primary threat, even though he was the only Republican officeholder to survive the Democratic landslide in 1958. Ohio Republican Chairman Ray Bliss had made it clear he does not look with favor on Brown's candidacy.

The primary picture could be altered considerably, however, if a third Republican jumped into the Senate race.

The real test for Rep. Taft will develop if he survives the May 5 primary. If he does, he could tangle in November with rough, outspoken Stephen M. Young, an old campaigner who is determined to hang onto the Senate seat he won in his 1958 political comeback.

But if Rep. Taft inherited more than a name from his father, the fact he faces tougher opposition this year won't bother him much.

Those who look for parallels in the Taft careers might recall the odds the late Sen. Taft bucked when he first ran for the U.S. Senate in 1938.

In the primary he was battling popular Supreme Court Justice Arthur H. Day for the GOP nomination. All but a handful of Ohio's Republican county chairmen were in the Day camp because they figured his name stood the best chance of unseating Democratic Sen. Robert J. Bulkley of Cleveland.

The odds didn't faze Mr. Taft. With virtually no party backing he went to work quietly organizing his forces, speaking to small but important groups, county by county, and dumped Justice Day by more than 75,000 votes.

But the battle was only half won. Sen. Bulkley, who had strong support from President Franklin D. Roosevelt, appeared to be unbeatable. It was just two years after President Roosevelt had won his first re-

'Hero' Held In Stab Case

FOSTORIA, Ohio (AP)—Robert S. Moore, hailed as a hero when he saved his two small children from a fire that destroyed their home here last week, was held for questioning today in the stabbing of his wife, who died in the blaze.

Moore, 20, was arrested Sunday night and held without charge after an autopsy revealed that his wife, also 20, had been stabbed.

A report on an autopsy performed at Cleveland by Dr. Samuel R. Gerber, Cuyahoga County coroner, said that Mrs. Moore had been stabbed at least once in the back and that her body showed signs of being kicked. It added that she was alive when she suffered fatal burns.

Police Chief James Meek said his men would search the ruins of the house for the knife used in the stabbing.

Moore was burned on the hands last Wednesday in rescuing his children, Robert Jr., 2, and Brenda Sue, 7 months. He told police he was driven back by the flames when he tried to save his wife.

The children are in Fostoria City Hospital with first and second - degree burns of the arms, legs and head.

Cigarettes Too Mild, Women Smoke Cigars

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Men who believe women have encroached too far into their domain are in for another disheartening blow — women are smoking cigars.

"Women are responding more and more to cigars," said Eugene L. Raymond, president of the Cigar Institute of America.

Officials attending a joint meeting of the CIA and the Cigar Manufacturers of America convention held here estimated that some 60,000 American women are already smoking cigars.

One believed that it won't be too long before women begin emulating their Danish sisters and start smoking cigars in public.

Nelson Explains Delay

Gutter, Corrective Work Slated For Freeway Link

The need for construction of 1,600 feet of paved gutter plus "some corrective work" has delayed opening of the two north-bound lanes of the Freeway extension from the city limits to Substation, according to Earl W. Nelson, head of the State Highway Department's Division 11 office in New Philadelphia.

Nelson said he cannot predict definitely when the work will be completed and the last two lanes of the road will be opened, but he said the state is pressing for completion as soon as possible. He did not explain the "corrective work" he said is needed.

He pointed out the project now is listed as 95 per cent complete. The official completion date is July 31, he added.

"We are now making arrangements with the contractor to perform this work and we expect him to begin his operations in the next few weeks," Nelson said.

The contractor is the Great Lakes Construction Co. of Cleveland.

When the job is complete, the Chamber of Commerce has promised to arrange a ribbon-cutting ceremony to mark the opening of the north-bound lanes, Nelson said.

The two inbound lanes of the new road were opened over two months ago. At the time, the state said the matching out-bound lanes could not be opened because work was not completed. The original indication was that the job would be ready for dedication around Dec. 1, but another postponement resulted.

Here's Nelson's explanation for the delay:

"The project has not as yet been accepted by the state or the Bureau of Public Roads because we have asked the contractor to perform some corrective work and also to construct 1,600 feet of paved gutter between old U. S. Route 30 and new U. S. Route 30.

"In order for the contractor to perform this work, it will be necessary for him at times to use the north-bound lanes to bring in materials and park his equipment.

"We felt that it would be better to leave traffic off of these lanes until this work was done, rather than to open them for a short period and then revert it back to the old U. S. Route 30 when construction is resumed. It also would save us the expense of changing traffic signs an additional time.

"I might explain why the paved gutter is being constructed. Last summer, we had a landslide along old U. S. 30. In order to correct this landslide, we extended the new 90-inch culvert pipe to the south about 540 feet. By doing this, we stopped the landslide, but the additional length of pipe reduced the hydraulic capacity of the pipe.

"As a safeguard measure, our hydraulic engineers recommended that a paved gutter be constructed on the surface to take any overflow that might occur if the 90-inch pipe becomes full during a flash flood. We do not anticipate this will happen frequently, but the gutter is an added safety precaution in case it does."

United States agriculture's total assets are worth $214 billion.

Chief Remembers

That He Was Boy Once
CORBIN, Ky. — Police Chief Jack Vermillion, answering a call, found several boys digging a hole six feet deep. One lad, about 10, said "We're digging a bear trap."

Vermillion informed them to fill the hole. When he returned, he found the boys patting dirt over the spot. But when Vermillion walked on the spot, a thin sheet of plywood cracked and down he went.

The boys scurried away and the chief just said the boys had been honest, they said they were building a trap. "I just laughed . . . I remembered that I was a boy once."

Doctorless Isle Gets Windfall From Storm

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Middle Bass Island in Lake Erie, whose 150 inhabitants rely on an air link with the mainland for a physician, got a windfall of doctors Sunday night. Four of them were marooned here by a blizzard that halted air traffic.

The quartet, who came here to ice fish, are Ray Carroll and Richard Samuel of Circleville and Hutch Williams and Grant O. Graves of Columbus.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: It happened for the third time in three years and now I'm completely fed up with this phony friend.

My Christmas gift from her arrived late, as usual. As always, it had a price tag tucked underneath — but in a place where I was sure to see it. And, as in the past, the price tag was about triple what the thing was worth. She had taken it off something else.

What really burned me up is that on the outside of the package, as big as life, there appeared a sticker which said: "Sender's Own." This means the gift was not purchased in the store. It's something she had at home and brought to the store for gift wrapping and delivery.

I hate to let her think she is getting away with this same tawdry stunt year after year. What shall I do? — NOT SO DUMB.

Dear Not So: Don't do anything. You've dissipated most of your anger by writing to me. When you see this letter in print the notion that perhaps she is seeing it, too, will take care of the rest.

Soft Teen-Age

Dear Ann: This isn't my problem, because I have no children. I believe, however, it's the problem of all American parents.

I've been distressed by the fact that American teen-agers are living on soft drinks, potato chips, pizza, popcorn, candy and ice cream. Such a diet eventually will undermine the health of the nation.

In recent years, parents have been less vigilant about seeing to it that their children have nourishing meals. I've observed many a teen-ager downing a malt and grabbing a hot dog on the run—and that's supposed to be dinner.

Millions of teens read your column daily. Please see if you can get through to them in an area where their parents have failed. — CONCERNED.

Dear Concerned: It may appear that American teen-agers are living on junk but it's not true. By and large, Americans are still the best-fed people in the world.

Teeth and complexions would be better if teens ate fewer sweets but my major complaint is not what they eat, but their disgraceful failure to exercise. This is where American kids need the shove.

Second Wife

Dear Ann: I married a divorced man recently. Pete and his first wife had no children but they did have a miniature poodle. She asked for custody of "Fifi," which was fine with Pete.

During the first month of our marriage Pete got a phone call from his ex-wife almost every evening — "problem" with "Fifi." He finally told her he didn't want to be bothered and to stop calling.

This made her furious so she decided to make our lives miserable. Now she devotes all her time to buttering up Pete's relatives. She calls my mother-in-law daily to ask if she can do any errands for her. She has Pete's sisters eating out of her hand because she bakes for them and sits with their kids.

Every time we go to one of his relatives for dinner she's there. Neither Pete nor I is comfortable in her presence. Does he have the right to ask his family to stop inviting her to their homes? — PAST-IMPERFECT.

Dear Past: No. He can and should tell his family, however, not to invite you two if they plan to invite his former wife the same evening.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problem. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Schedule Issued For Tax Credits On State Imposts

Melvin J. Burton, district director of the Internal Revenue Service office at Cleveland, said today many taxpayers who itemize deductions on their income tax returns neglect to include proper deductions for state taxes they have paid.

He said the following taxes are deductible: Gasoline, 7 cents a gallon; cigarettes, 5 cents a pack; whisky, 20 cents a fifth; and beer, one-twelfth of a cent per pint.

Burton pointed out that the IRS has developed for Ohio a table of sales tax deductions which ordinarily are accepted without substantiation. The list of acceptable sales tax deductions, by adjusted gross income brackets, is:

Under $1,500, $19; $1,500 to $2,000, $24; $2,000 to $2,500, $28; $2,500 to $3,000, $35; $3,000 to $3,500, $41; $3,500 to $4,000, $46; $4,000 to $4,500, $51; $4,500 to $5,000, $57; $5,000 to $5,500, $62; $5,500 to $6,000, $68; $6,000 to $7,000, $79; $7,000 to $8,000, $95; $8,000 to $9,000, $100; $9,000 to $9,500, $105; and $9,500 to $10,000, $111.

Motorist Fined $100

LISBON — Amos H. Gary, 209 N. Market St., was fined $100 and costs Sunday night by Mayor Dean Stockman on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident Friday noon at W. Washington and S. Beaver Sts. Gary's car struck a car driven by Miss Vinnie Warner, 253 W. Washington St. and Gary allegedly drove away before police arrived.

Every time a Cadillac goes by, it seems someone falls in love with it.

Last year, for instance, more people moved up to Cadillac than ever before in history. And the way 1964 is starting off, Cadillac is going to attract more owners than even its beguiling predecessor. Why? We think the answer is easy.

Each year Cadillac simply lengthens its margin of product leadership—by introducing advancements and improvements that are entirely its own.

In 1964, for example, we've combined the heater and air conditioner in a single unit—with a single control. You set the thermostat at your favorite temperature just like you do at home—and the interior of the car holds it winter and summer. We call it Comfort Control.*

*As extra-cost option.

Then there's Cadillac's new Twilight Sentinel*. When it's time to turn on the lights, they switch on automatically... and then turn off when sufficient daylight returns. And in the evening, the headlights can be set to light your path from car to doorway and then turn off automatically after you have entered the house.

There's a lot more about the 1964 Cadillac just as now and just as exciting. Take performance, for example. There's the exciting new 340 h.p. engine—the most powerful in Cadillac history—combined with the smoothness of an improved Hydra-Matic or the completely new Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission.

Give in to your heart and get behind the wheel. Let your authorized Cadillac dealer introduce you to America's most desired motor car.

Ann Landers Talks Of Sex

as a typical teen-ager. He can't be defined because he doesn't exist. Yet we scarcely can pick up a magazine or a newspaper which doesn't have an article on "What Teen-Agers Want" or "What Teen-Agers Need" or — worst of all — "The Moral Decay of the Youth of America."

Adults who talk about teen-agers in unharassed generalities do all our kids an injustice. Teen-agers are not lima beans. They are human beings who come in assorted sizes, shapes and colors. Each has his own personality, his own sense of personal worth and his own moral and ethical value system.

The difference between age 13 and age 19 can be 100.

I'VE RECEIVED letters from 15-year-old girls who have had so many sexual experiences they can't recall the names of all their partners. In the same batch of mail I might receive half a dozen letters from 16- and 17-year-olds who want to know if it's possible to get pregnant through clothing.

Although there is no typical teen, my mail tells me an astonishing number of high school kids share common problems. They are either on Cloud 9 or behind the 8-Ball about 11 times a week.

They alternately love and hate their parents. They want more freedom on the one hand, yet on the other they desperately hope Mom and Dad won't let them do every fool thing they beg to do.

THEY STRUGGLE with acne, overweight and underweight, and the sweet and frightening mysteries of awakening biological drives. They're bedeviled by pesky brothers and sisters, wail over impossible math courses, and hunger to be popular.

They die when they are left out. They want to be exactly like everybody else—right down to the skinny pants, the beat-up sneakers, the bulky sweaters or whatever happens to be "in" at the moment.

Alexander Graham Bell is their patron saint. To the teen-ager the telephone is vastly more than an instrument of communication. It is an emotional outlet. The tinkle of this magical gadget can send a 15-year-old into ecstasy. A silent phone can plunge a teen-ager into the cellars of despair.

One thing is certain. After 12 and up to 20, life is not easy.

Kooky Generation

Are teen-agers today wilder than their parents were at a comparable age—or are they just getting more public attention?

I am asked this question frequently, particularly by parents. They usually put it this way: "Are our children worse than we were when we were their age?"

I don't like the word "worse." The teen-agers of today are DIFFERENT from teen-agers of 30 years ago. My answer is not based on memory. It is based on statistics.

Anyone who has been working with young people since World War II will tell you that more teen-agers are in trouble today—more serious trouble, and at an earlier age—than ever before. And it isn't just that there are more teen-agers.

THE PERCENTAGE of adolescents in trouble is up. What are the reasons? Have today's teen-agers invented a new kind of mischief?

No, they have not. They are doing, essentially, the same things their parents did—but they are doing them sooner. And this is where the trouble comes in. Since World War II, the timetable of sex activity among teen-agers has been set ahead by approximately three years.

When I was a teen-ager (back in the Stone Age, of course) 13-year-old girls didn't wear nail polish, nylons, strapless evening gowns and lipstick. A 14-year-old boy who smoked usually did it behind the barn.

There wasn't the social pressure to "grow up." Our mothers didn't worry so much about whether or not we were popular. Back in the 1930s, mothers were worrying about other things—like how to feed their families.

OF COURSE, we were interested in sex. (An interest in sex has been fairly high for some thousands of years.) but my generation was more self-conscious about it.

In our day, 16-year-olds hugged and kissed and called it necking. Today most 16-year-olds go beyond hugging and kissing, and they call it "making out."

It is substantially more difficult to be a wholesome teen-ager today, and, to some extent, the reasons are economic.

The "under-20" group spends $9.5 billion a year without adult supervision. Teens are stimulated by advertisers to buy more—and to want more. Advertising suggests that the way to be popular is to rev up the sex appeal.

The Auto's Influence

More than any single factor in the past 30 years, the automobile has exerted the strongest influence on teen-age behavior. Millions of teen-agers own cars—and those who don't own a car can often get four wheels on half an hour's notice.

A car today is more than transportation. It is a status symbol and a passport to freedom. Six gallons of gas can propel a couple of teen-agers into another world. A car can be a portable bedroom—"even with those crummy bucket seats," as one teen wrote.

Today's automobile has all the comforts of home, plus privacy. The radio provides mood music. The glove compartment can accommodate a few cans of beer or a bottle of booze. If it's cold outside, you can turn on the heater. If it's hot outside, you can turn on the air-conditioner.

NATURE'S WONDERS can be glorious and stimulating. Safe in a car, you can watch the stars twinkle in the heavens, listen to the howling wind or the gentle patter of the rain.

With a setup like this, it's not surprising that half the kids who write and say they are in serious trouble admit it happened in a car.

Am I suggesting teen-agers should not be allowed to have cars? I am not. That would be absurd. Cars are built into 20th-century life. We can't turn back the clock or the calendar, nor should we wish to.

I am strongly suggesting, however, that teen-agers should recognize that a car presents multiple temptations which can add up to deep trouble. Even the most disciplined boy or girl is battling against brutal odds when he parks in the moonlight—"just to talk."

A kooky generation? No. A troubled generation, struggling not only with the problems of growing up but with the added pressures of the space age—a generation forced to live in a world it never made. But what new generation ever made the world it came into?

NEXT: What about going steady?

Panama

Zone Thursday set off the fighting. Three of the dead were U.S. soldiers.

The U.S. Army said the slain guardsman apparently was caught in a crossfire between snipers and U.S. soldiers. The Army said the guardsman was hit by a high velocity bullet while the U.S. troops were using shotguns. Panamanian guardsmen searched border streets on the Colon side for snipers.

Panama City's streets were deserted Sunday night, but earlier in the day as many as 100,000 turned out in the capital to follow the bodies of 14 countrymen killed in the fighting. Most of the 14 were students.

After funeral services in the Metropolitan Cathedral, the coffins were carried eight miles to the Jardin de Paz (Garden of Peace) Cemetery. President Roberto Chiari led the mourners.

While the OAS delegation appeared to have set up machinery to keep the pace along the canal, major issues between the United States and Panama remained unsettled.

Panama broke relations with the United States because of the fighting. At the same time it renewed demands for revision of the U.S.-Panamanian treaty under which the United States occupies the Canal Zone. Mann and Vance are expected to arrange for discussions of these problems.

In an effort to remove one source of friction, President Johnson's administration warned all U.S. citizens in the Canal Zone that they must abide by a U.S.-Panamanian agreement of last year that whenever flags are flown in the zone, the U.S. and Panamanian flags will be flown side by side.

U.S. high school students in the zone defied this order last week and raised the American flag. Panamanian students retaliated Thursday with a flag-raising of their own in the zone, and the violence mushroomed.

American officials accused Panamanian supporters of Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba of taking a hand in the anti-American demonstrations. President Chiari himself said earlier that Castroites had infiltrated the ranks of anti-American demonstrators.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in Washington Sunday night that Castro - Communist elements probably saw in the flag incident "an opportunity to... stimulate violence."

Rusk said the United States cannot afford to pull out of the Canal Zone and that he has not heard any responsible leader raise that point. He disagreed with any suggestion that the disorders had harmed U.S. Latin American policy.

room still smoldering, summoned firemen.

Three of the four classrooms are damaged extensively, he said, and the kitchen is hard hit.

VANHORNE said he did not have an estimate on the costs of replacing damaged walls, ceilings, floors and furniture, but the loss could surpass $50,000.

Robert Beatty, architect, and representatives of the insurance firm are to study the damage further today and plan for repairs.

Beaver Local's 2,436 students were out of classes today due to the heavy snow storm, but were to return Tuesday if the snow and winds ease.

ROGERS' 210 pupils will also return if the school's heating system can adequately heat the older structure, VanHorne said.

There are various plans being considered for providing classrooms for the first and second graders at the school.

Some churches have offered their facilities, he said. Some of the pupils could be accommodated at the Elkton and Calcutta schools, or the Oak Grove School might be re-opened temporarily.

Snake In The Washer Settles It For Her

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Mrs. J. L. Day moved here with her husband three years ago and had a hard time getting used to spiders, mosquitos, sand fleas and other insects which were more abundant than they had been in her northern home.

One day recently she dumped her clothes in the washer, and when she pulled them out, a dead snake tumbled out also. "That settles it," Mrs. Day said, "We're getting out of here."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Folks: When washing blankets, I always shake out the dust before wetting them. (People who are lucky enough to have dryers should put them in the dryer without heat and tumble them to remove loose soil.) I find it far better to hand wash a blanket than to use my washing machine. The bathtub, washtub or my kitchen sink (if it is a small blanket) is much better.

I fill up the bathtub with lukewarm suds (enough to cover the blanket), and put the blanket gently into the warm suds. I use my plumber's friend to massage the blanket up and down... pull the plug out of the tub and let the water drain out. Then I gently squeeze the water from the blanket. Never twist or wring.

I REPEAT this procedure a second time and then rinse well in lukewarm water two or three times.

Since I found that our friend vinegar makes a lovely rinse water for my wool sweaters, I now rinse the blankets in diluted vinegar water, at least one cup of vinegar to a tub of water. To remove the water from the blanket I fold it in quarters, roll it up like a rolling pin and gently squeeze out the excess water while the blanket still is in the tub.

I hang the blankets over parallel lines in the SHADE, gently shaking them out so that they are in shape. Just before they are dry I remove them, shake them real hard and turn them over. This gives them a beautiful fluff. So does a slight brushing with a clean vegetable brush or whisk broom.

WHEN ALL my blankets are dry I gently steam the satin bindings.

I have washed rayon, wool and synthetic blankets by this method and have always had excellent results.

The next time you pour coffee, drink the second cup of it for me. I'll do the same!

DEAR HELOISE: To get a real good crease in your boy's trousers, take a large paper bag, wet it with cold water, wring it out (the bag will not tear) and use this as your pressing cloth. The crease will be knife sharp.

A READER.

It works!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: If you want your little girl's nylon dresses to really perk up... starch them with dry powdered milk.

I use one cup of dry milk to one half gallon of water. Always let these drip dry. They come out looking like new. This method also works beautifully on nylon and dacron curtains.

A READER.

It's amazing but this works beautifully.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Oh, that miracle-working nylon net of yours! I was washing the woodwork in the kitchen and here is how I made my job easier:

I took a 12-inch square of your net and folded it until it was the same length as my sponge was wide, then wrapped it around the sponge and fastened it to the sponge itself with some basting thread.

The wall in the back of my stove (which always was a nuisance) needed only a once-over! Heloise's net sponge was slick as a whistle for this job.

By putting the net all the way around the sponge I just keep turning the sponge over for clean surfaces. This also saves getting on and off that step stool so many times.

B. H.

DEAR HELOISE: I remove stamped-on embroidery marks from my linens with rubbing alcohol. The kind we use around the house. I have had success many times using this.

MANDIE MUDD.

DEAR HELOISE: To keep salt from clogging in the container, never shake directly over hot food. The steam rising from the foods tends to dampen the contents of the container and the next time it will not pour or shake freely. Measure or shake the contents into a spoon, then add to your cooking foods.

Also, if the spices and seasonings are stored too near the stove the heating or cooling off of the cans will eventually cause enough sweating to clog up the insides.

MRS. C. M.

Heloise welcomes all mail, especially household hints which she can pass on to readers as space permits. However, because of the tremendous volume of mail she receives daily, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will answer readers' questions in her column whenever possible.

Dark Paneling Can Give More Warmth To Room

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Some people make bad use of wall paneling. It shouldn't be put up as an afterthought unless everything used in the room conforms to it.

Light paneling is more difficult to work with than dark paneling, which has a built-in warmth that gives a head start in establishing coziness.

A reader asks whether dark wood paneling would look depressing in a small room. It all depends on what other furnishings are used in the room and what colors are used.

One or two walls of dark wood lend a cozy sort of mellowness even to a small room, especially if there is a fireplace.

Dark wood requires some bright touches, but even this can be dark warm reds and golds used in papers and paints. These colors can enrich the wood in a fashion that gives the entire room a delightful atmosphere.

VIVID colors — turquoise, orange and hot pink can liven up dark woods also, but this is another kind of look, and may call for a different kind of decorating. It depends on the look you want to achieve in the total room, and the furnishings that are used.

One dreadful effect that is the result of light paneling in the living area is that it can never assist in giving the room a lift.

This is especially true when blonde furniture is used with it or very light upholstery. People attracted to light paneling often use with it, for some reason or other, very faded colors like dreary blues or washed-out yellows which further deflate the room.

One problem in re-doing walls is in using some of the new materials such as tickings, grass cloths and burlaps that are popular now.

One must be especially careful to get instructions for the specific material used, instead of depending on the paper hanger to know all the answers.

"I have just had a wall covered with burlap by some stupid characters," writes a reader, "and the day after the burlap was applied it shrunk all around about an inch. When I argued that I shouldn't have to pay for the job and they should certainly reimburse me for the burlap, they argue that I should have told them how to hang the material. Is there anything I can do to patch this up? They refuse to make it good."

BURLAP MUST be applied with special adhesives and these new wall coverings are so new many paper hangers haven't encountered them. Directors for hanging fabrics should come from stores which sell the fabric, to be on the safe side.

You could use a braid the

Orders Spur Metal Output

CLEVELAND (AP) — The magazine Steel reported today that order backlogs at some of the nation's steel mills are 10 to 12 per cent higher than they were a year ago.

"There's more optimism at nearly all mills than there was then," Steel added.

The national weekly journal of metalworking said automakers, appliance manufacturers and other big users have completed inventory adjustments and are buying for immediate consumption.

Among optimistic reports received were those from midwestern mills, which said big orders were coming in from railroad suppliers, service centers, machinery builders and makers of earth-moving equipment.

Steelmakers expect deliveries to remain prompt despite the pickup in orders and look for January shipments to be 8 per cent higher than last month's and 5 per cent better than those of January 1963.

Last week, the magazine said, producers made steel at the rate of 108 million tons a year. In comparison 1963 output was 109.4 million tons. Steel estimated mills poured 2,075,000 ingot tons last week and expect higher output this week.

Steel's scrap price composite on the prime grade used in steelmaking, No. 1 heavy melting, rose 50 cents per gross ton last week to $29.33.

Titanium Firm Plans New Jersey Facility

Titanium Metals Corp. of America, operator of a mill in Toronto, has announced plans to establish in New Jersey the industry's first facility aimed at building low-cost prototype parts to speed development of new titanium markets.

It is the third expansion announced by TMCA in the last three years, and will be located in the industrial park section of Monroe Township, N. J. Groundbreaking is set for March and the initial TMCA investment will be $500,000.

Basically an engineering laboratory, the new facility will enable potential customers to incorporate into their products or processes top quality titanium parts without severe cost penalties and delays now often encountered when parts of limited size or quantity are required.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—What can I do about lime deposit, hard-water scales, and discolorations caused by the constant boiling of water in my aluminum vessels?

A.—These can often be removed by boiling vinegar in the vessel. Another method is to cut up raw lemon, put this in the pot with water, and boil for 15 minutes before scouring. Still another approach is to boil rhubarb in the discolored vessel.

Q.—How can I remove rust stains from white materials?

A.—By soaking the spots with lemon juice, then sprinkling salt over the stained area. Lay the garment in the sun. Several applications may be necessary. Wash the fabric after the spot has disappeared.

If that gravy, made from the drippings from roast meat or poultry, doesn't have enough flavor, you may want to add a touch of soy sauce.

Character Of Neighborhood Important To Home Buyer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

When a family is getting ready to buy a house, does it first decide which neighborhood it wants to live in?

Or does it look for the kind of house it wants and then, having found it, decide whether the neighborhood is suitable?

The closest you can get to general answers to those questions is that people who intend to buy an old house very often have selected the neighborhood ahead of time, whereas those who want a new house are more likely to settle wherever the desired home happens to be.

More often than not, it happens to be in a new community or, at the very least, on the outskirts of a settled village, town or city.

Nobody is ever going to be 100 per cent certain that he will be happy in a particular neighborhood unless he has already lived there.

And nobody can give a flat answer to the question of whether it is better to live in an old or a new neighborhood for the simple reason that family needs vary.

That nice, quiet neighborhood you admire from afar might turn out to be mighty uncomfortable if you moved into it with a houseful of children and discovered that the normal yelling and shouting of your youngsters were disturbing the inhabitants.

Similarly, you wouldn't want to move into a noisy section if peace and quiet were necessary to your own well-being.

One of the best ways to find out about a neighborhood, of course, is to talk with someone who lives there.

But even then, some care must be exercised, otherwise you will be accepting the opinion of a person whose needs are different than yours and who might be perfectly happy in an atmosphere that would make you miserable.

One thing that should be done when you have decided on a house is to visit the neighborhood at various times of the day or week under different conditions. Such visits can be remarkably revealing.

"I never buy a house," said a friend of ours who has owned four of them, "unless I visit the area during bad weather conditions. If I still have the urge to buy, I know the house will suit me admirably when the weather is good."

There are a lot of other considerations which go into the final decision, of course.

These include the proximity of schools, transportation, shopping, etc. But, in the final analysis, it is the character of the neighborhood that is important. You won't find that out unless you observe and question. Even then, you will have to make a compromise somewhere along the line. Perfect neighborhoods are as scarce as perfect human beings.

Reporters Feted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Former Gov. and Mrs. Michael V. DiSalle gave a party Saturday night for members of the Legislative Correspondents Association at their home. DiSalle, who made no political pronouncements, called the party a continuation of Christmas fetes he gave for newsmen when he was governor.

Dining Room, Family Room Combine Well

Often today the dining room is made part of the family room or living room.

While it's never as pleasant as having a separate dining room, the combination plan can certainly be made to work well and gracefully.

Whether designed as part of living or family room, the dining area needs to retain its own individuality, yet coordinate decoratively with the adjoining space.

There are several ways to highlight the dining area. For one, a wall paneled importantly in a prestige wood can act as a backdrop for the dining ensemble.

West coast hemlock is often used for this purpose since its vertical grain and pale champagne tint contribute warmth and texture without creating conflict with other woods used in the dining set. It also complements non-wood dining sets, providing the richness of wood needed in this area.

Hanging a chandelier over the dining table is another way to set this area apart from the rest of the room. The fixture chosen should be restrained in design, whether general decor is modernistic or traditional.

Frequently, china storage is inadequate in combination rooms. And there's need for built-in storage units. These can be added attractively and unobtrusively.

In a family - dining room, the china cabinets can be designed as part of a general storage wall which will also house hobby equipment and games. If the dining room is part of the living room, china cabinets can be made to connect with a book wall, or they could be built to resemble a buffet or a set of bunch cabinets, with a common countertop for serving.

Even more popular is concealed, closet-style china storage, where shelving is built into the paneled wall.

Doors flush with the wall surface are made of the same hemlock panel boards and are fitted with touch latches so that no hardware is visible. When doors are closed, the entire wall appears to be only paneling. This treatment takes little floor space.

Generally, only 13 inches of depth are required — or desirable. Extra large serving pieces can usually be stored in the deep kitchen base cabinets.

Social Security Asks Early Income Report

Social Security agencies in East Liverpool and Beaver County have urged self-employed persons to file their federal income tax return before the April 15 deadline.

The two tax forms for the self-employed are Schedule C, for business or professional work, and Schedule F for farm or agricultural income. The Social Security Administration is concerned with some of the information contained on these tax forms.

By law any self-employed person who nets over $400 per year must report this income for Social Security purposes and pay the Social Security tax in addition to the income tax payable. And it is on the basis of these reports that the self-employed person earns his Social Security credit.

Confusion Reigns

Drilling Holes In Steps Averts Rotting, Decay

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

No part of a house, with the exception of the roof, is subjected to as much weather-wear as the steps.

As a matter of fact, the average set of steps gets as much weather as the roof, plus a great amount of wear from traffic. It is small wonder that paint does not last long on wood steps and that they often take on a dish-shaped shape in the center which holds rain or melted snow. These pools of water do not do the wood much good. And when low temperatures occur they turn into ice and present a real hazard.

When steps retain water this can be cured easily by boring three or four half-inch holes down the center of the treads. The half-inch diameter of the hole is plenty large enough to drain the step, but not large enough to catch a woman's heel or allow a dropped key or coin to pass through.

are so bad that it is impossible to continue today, the director said.

Three small pumps and one large pump were placed into operation over the weekend, but one of the small pumps broke down Sunday.

An emergency has been declared in the city and officials have taken action to obtain the use of a federal pipeline stored at Marion. It would be laid from East Liverpool or set up so as to carry water to the reservoir from the Ohio River.

City Council adopted a resolution declaring the state of emergency at a special meeting Saturday night. It was the third special meeting in three days.

The director said the road into the filter plant has been barricaded since Saturday because of the number of curiosity seekers who were using the road.

Mayor William Daugherty said a special meeting will be held at City Hall Tuesday afternoon at 1 to explain the emergency to the principal consumers and the problem.

Many donations of food and coffee have been made those working the pumps, officials said.

Get Skunks If Yellow Jackets Are Menace

KATONAH, N.Y. (AP) — If yellow jackets are menacing your area, get some skunks.

Naturalist Stanley O. Grierson doesn't actually recommend harboring skunks. But he says the much maligned skunk is man's friend and is instrumental in keeping the wasps under control.

"These insects," Grierson said, "have become a suburban summer plague. Many people, allergic to their sting, become violently ill. Some even may die when stung."

One doctor treated 250 sting victims last summer.

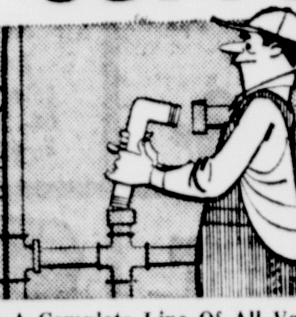

"Yellow jackets build their nests in the ground where the queens develop in preparation for reproducing thousands of their kind," Grierson said. "With the first chill of winter these insects become immobilized in the nests. Safe from the stings, the skunks then ferret them out and eat nests, eggs and queens. But with roving dogs around the skunks are disappearing."

Tips Offered For Bureau's Refinishing

Question: We have a dining room bureau which we want to refinish. It is a light-colored wood which we have been told is birch. The present finish appears to be varnish.

Is it necessary to remove this finish in order to put on a new one? We are considering using lacquer because of the beautiful lacquer finish we saw recently on a similar bureau in a friend's house.

Answer: Don't rush into this job until you consider a number of facts.

First, if the present finish is in need of attention, the chances are it should be taken off with varnish remover no matter what the new finish is to be. Secondly, you should never apply lacquer over any other type of finish because of the danger that the solvent in the lacquer will cause the old finish to blister and curl.

Third, there is a certain knack to the application of lacquer, by brush or spray. You should first practice using lacquer on scrap wood or some less ambitious project before tackling good furniture.

Remember that the finish on your friend's bureau probably was done professionally. But if it happens that it was a do-it-yourself job, why not get some tips from your friend.

Faith In Government

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) - Commission chairman Jerry Pucci of suburban Sweetwater voted against a contractor's offer to share the cost of a bridge with the city. "If we were to apply for a government grant, we might get two bridges, or four bridges. Who knows?" Pucci said.

Various Steps Are Offered For Proper Use Of Shellac

By ANDY LANG AP Newsfeatures

Easy to apply and fast drying, shellac has maintained its popularity over the years both as a final finishing material or as a sealer.

Because shellac is a clear finish, the result obtained with it depends to some degree on the smoothness of the surface to which it is applied. Unlike some pigmented coatings, clear finishes tend to magnify rather than hide defects.

The first rule in the use of shellac, therefore, is to prepare the surface thoroughly, which generally means to sand it until it is absolutely smooth to the touch.

Shellac should be thinned with denatured alcohol before using. There are various recommended combinations for different purposes, but we have found that a 50-50 mixture does the job in nearly all cases.

The important thing is not to make the mistake of applying the shellac as it comes from the container. It usually is applied by brush and is put on with a flowing motion, but sometimes — especially with the initial coats — can be spread on with a clean, lintless cloth. There is no special knack to its application and even a beginner can get the hang of it the first time he handles it.

Like all clear finishes, shellac is best applied in several thin coats rather than one or two thick coats.

There are two kinds of shellac, orange and white. The white actually is what we generally know as clear and might be described as less orange than the orange type. Don't forget that — again like all clear finishes — shellac tends to darken wood slightly, so try it out on a piece of scrap wood to learn the effect.

Shellac is a natural, fast-drying finish, but will not fit into that category if it is applied during humid conditions.

It should be used during dry weather and is not recommended for exterior work, although it occasionally is used as an undercoat in outdoor work where the final finish is resistant to the elements. As a general rule, though, shellac should not be used where it will be in contact with rain, sleet or snow.

A second coat of shellac can be applied after an interval of a few hours. We have found, however, that it is best to wait a day or two between the next-to-the-last and the final coats.

Shellac deteriorates with age. Don't buy it in large quantities. If you use some and have some left over, be sure the container is made airtight. And if you have it around more than six months, consider the possibility that it may not be as good as when you purchased it. Whether you still want to use it depends on how important the project is. If an especially beautiful finish is vital, buy a new container.

Sailors Protest

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Jesse Burgert and his three sons found a name for their boat in the criticism of one of their womenfolk. She chided them for working on the sleek inboard runabout instead of their yards. So the boat, which is on nearby Indian Lake, now is named Hell With Yard Work.

Dirksen Expects Congress To OK Tax Cuts, Rights Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington: Dirksen: Congressional approval of tax reduction and civil rights legislation has been forecast by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen.

By J. A. LOCKE, JR.
Member American Gem Society

For centuries, people have attributed various properties to the wearing of different gemstones. Both therapeutic and mystical benefits are said to occur when the special gem for your month of birth is worn. While birthstones rings are the most popular, these special and lucky jewels may also be worn in a pendant, a pin, or bracelet. Many women who wear a charm bracelet include a birthstone charm set with the stone selected to represent their birthdate.

According to the American Gem Society, here is the proper birthstone list as adopted by the Jewelry Industry Council.

- January—Garnet for Constancy
- February—Amethyst for Sincerity
- March—Aquamarine or Bloodstone for Wisdom
- April—Diamond for Innocence
- May—Emerald for Love
- June—Pearl, Moonstone or Alexandrite for Wealth
- July—Ruby for Freedom
- August—Sardonyx or Peridot for Friendship
- September—Sapphire for Truth
- October—Opal or Tourmaline for Hope
- November—Topaz or Citrine
- December—Turquoise or Zircon for Success

Men, too, enjoy wearing their birthstones. Usually, the more opaque stones are preferred when a choice is given such as in the month of March. We will be happy to assist you in making a lovely selection of our colored stone or birthstone jewelry at any time. Do visit us soon and learn more about many varieties of colored stones to be found in our wonderful world of gems.

District GOP Chooses Pair As Delegates

Two delegates to the Republican National Convention in San Francisco in July, which will name the GOP Presidential contender for 1964, were named at a meeting of county leaders from the 18th Congressional District Saturday at the Ft. Steuben Hotel in Steubenville.

The delegates are Robert M. Bell of Steubenville and Mrs. Letha Astor of Salem, the GOP's state central committee man and woman from the 18th District.

They were instructed to go to the convention pledged to support the "favorite son" candidacy of Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The alternates are Mayor William Magers of Cadiz and Atty. Clyde Chalfant of Steubenville. County chairmen and chairwomen from throughout the district attended the caucus.

Columbiana County was represented by Atty. Charles A. Pike of Lisbon and Miss Gladys DeBolt of East Liverpool. The congressional district is comprised of Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson, Belmont and Harrison Counties.

Minor Bills Near Legislative Vote In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP)—The 1964 Legislature could pass its first bills of the current session this week, but neither of the measures is expected to generate much debate.

They include enabling legislation to place the $200 million road bond issue on the November election ballot and a bill to permit the state to join the Southern Interstate Nuclear Compact.

The compact is a southern states cooperative program for development and use of nuclear energy, facilities and materials.

Both bills are in position to be passed by the House Wednesday. Meanwhile, the House Finance Committee had a public hearing scheduled at noon today on the administration bill to extend for one year the expiring one per cent increase in the retail sales tax. The Senate Finance Committee has a hearing on the same bill at 10 a. m. Friday. A House Judiciary Committee hearing on a bill to strengthen the state's Sunday-closing law will be held after House adjournment Thursday.

Hindus Vs. Moslems

India Lists New Killing, Violence

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The theft of a sacred Moslem relic in Kashmir has mushroomed into the worst outbreak of Hindu-Moslem violence since hundreds of thousands were killed in the 1947 massacres that followed partitioning of the Indian subcontinent.

Hindus are killing Moslems in Calcutta, India's largest city, and Moslems are killing Hindus in villages of East Pakistan, just east of Calcutta. Both Indian and Pakistani governments are reluctant to disclose the full horror of what is happening, partly for fear that the violence will spread.

The official death toll in the Calcutta area was 75 Sunday. Unconfirmed reports circulating in responsible quarters in Calcutta indicate the number is far higher.

The highest figure responsibly reported from East Pakistan is 29 deaths. But Hindu refugees reaching Calcutta have indicated the number is greater.

Hatred between Hindus and Moslems has long existed in what used to be British India. It stems from economic and power rivalries as well as religious differences.

When the British prepared to give India independence, the Moslems demanded a separate nation. Pakistan was carved in two pieces out of the subcontinent.

to migrate. In the mass transfer, hundreds of thousands were killed in an orgy of vengeful communal warfare.

Some 10 per cent of India's 440 million people are Moslems, and millions of Hindus remain in East Pakistan. There have been periodic outbreaks of violence in both countries.

None has been as bad as what began last week. It was touched off by the theft Dec. 26 in Srinagar, capital of the Indian-controlled part of Kashmir, of a hair believed to be from the head of the Prophet Mohammad. Demonstrations in predominantly Moslem Srinagar turned against the government rather than taking a violently religious turn.

Pakistani officials charged the theft was part of an effort to subjugate Kashmir's Moslems. They refused to believe the Indian announcement Jan. 4 that the hair had been found.

At Khulna, East Pakistan, 75 miles east of Calcutta, a demonstration protested against the theft. What happened next is unclear, but there was violence.

The Pakistani government denied the violence was of a religious nature. But Calcutta newspapers began publishing reports from refugees that Moslems had butchered Hindus because of the prophet's hair.

That set Calcutta aflame.

History indicates the frenzy will pass off soon. But history also indicates it will return again.

Snow

ing car tracks through the deep snow. The sidewalks still were an unbroken white expanse.

Cars literally were buried by drifts in places where they had been left in exposed locations.

As usual after a deep snow, four-wheel drive vehicles equipped with plows were in heavy demand to clear driveways and parking lots.

Observers said many secondary streets were blocked hopelessly by stalled cars which drivers had abandoned.

MANY AUTOS were wedged against curbs in the downtown area, with little hope they could be freed short of a major "excavating job."

Snow was thrown against the parked vehicles from one direction by passing plows.

The wheels also were mired by snow shoveled off of sidewalks.

Many motorists resorted to tire chains for the first time this winter to help negotiate the drifts.

TOW TRUCK operators were swamped with calls, as were filling station and garage attendants.

Youths took advantage of the school holiday to pick up extra change shoveling sidewalks in both business and residential districts.

Virtually all business places were short-handed to some degree — the worst weather-enforced absenteeism in several years.

A rock slide partially blocked a section of the super-road just below the city limits early this morning. It was discovered in a unique way by State Highway Patrolman R. D. Delagrang of the Lisbon barracks, who ran into it with a patrol cruiser.

THE ROCKS and dirt that came down off the hillside were covered quickly by snow and blended in with the surrounding area.

The officer struck the slide about 4:05 a.m., doing minor damage to the tires and wheel rims on the left side of the cruiser. Several other cars hit the rocks while the cruiser was at the scene.

The slide was cleared by a state highway department crew.

A funeral in New Cumberland was postponed until Tuesday because a firm that was to have provided a vault was unable to get a truck through the snow to the cemetery.

IN WHEELING Sunday morning, police came to the aid of a man trudging along in the bitter cold garbed in a sweater. He admitted he was destitute and all he wanted to do was to go to his home in Newell.

Police notified Brooke and Hancock County sheriff's deputies and a "friendship exchange" was made at the county borders as the man was driven home.

IRONICALLY, Mayor Merrill D. Hall, Robert E. Vodrey, new safety-service director, members of Council's streets committee and Street Supt. W. M. Laughlin met Saturday to discuss a snow removal program.

But most of the discussion was concentrated on plans the city can make for next winter, the mayor said, explaining a study will be made to determine what additional equipment the city needs and whether it should be the type suitable for general work or snow removal only.

Hall said he had received calls from several elderly residents declaring they were unable to get out of their homes because the snow had drifted against the doorways.

RICHARD M. Reese, 26, of Mud Ln., Calcutta, was determined to get to the First National Bank's St. Clair Branch this morning, despite heavy snow blocking his driveway.

Instead of "hoofing" it alone to the bank, Reese climbed aboard his trusty horse and transacted his business at the drive-in window in true Western style.

The employees were flabbergasted by it all, and Collin L. Neal, manager, recorded the bank's first customer aboard a steed with his camera.

Blizzard

as many accidents in Cincinnati as on a normal Sabbath.

Airline traffic via Cincinnati and Dayton came to a near-standstill, with hardly any visibility.

In Dayton, buses were running hours behind schedule. The Highway Patrol post at Dayton got hundreds of SOS calls from stranded motorists.

The situation was bad along Lake Erie, too. Weekend ice fishermen in the Port Clinton-Catawba Island area found themselves marooned. Some were stranded on Middle Bass and other islands when air traffic shut down. Some found the ice under them drifting away from shore and needed emergency help.

The Northeast Ohio "snow belt," where the heaviest deposits usually occur, came in a bit late in the present storm. But weather observers forecast that parts of that section would have well over six inches by midday today.

The blizzard was due to end, with snow down to flurries, in Western Ohio this morning and east by afternoon or night.

In its wake, though, followed the other half of the familiar winter one-two punch: frigid temperatures.

Predicted overnight lows range downward to 5 below zero.

Huge Storm Travels Across Eastern U.S.

By The Associated Press

A massive snowstorm, described by the Weather Bureau as the winter's worst, snarled across the eastern United States today.

Numerous highways were blocked, hundreds of motorists stranded and communities isolated as gale-force winds piled the snow into drifts as much as 10 feet deep.

From two to five inches of snow has fallen on greater New York and up to six inches were expected before the storm blows out to sea this afternoon.

The Weather Bureau in Washington issued a heavy snow warning for New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and all but the northern part of New England.

Western Pennsylvania received from 5 to 10 inches of snow which began falling Sunday afternoon and was still coming down Monday morning.

Huge snow drifts were piled up by 50-mile-an-hour winds in central Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

The Weather Bureau urged motorists in the Midwest and East to stay off the highways in storm areas or run the risk of becoming snowbound in near-zero weather.

That fate already has befallen hundreds of motorists.

In Illinois, some 500 motorists became overnight guests of the 1,200 citizens of Neoga, a farm community which opened the local American Legion hall and Masonic Temple to accommodate stranded travelers.

In Indiana and Ohio, other hundreds of motorists abandoned autos on snow clogged highways and sought shelter at service stations, road houses and farms.

Springfield, the capital of Illinois, was virtually isolated with only one main highway into the city open. A few miles south of Springfield, 25 Boy Scouts on a weekend camping trip awaited rescue today at their snowbound camp site.

Schools were closed in the suburbs of Washington, D. C., while in the nation's capital, stringent snow plans which forbid motorists to block traffic or park on main streets being plowed were put into effect.

Hundreds of schools in the Midwest, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania were closed.

The gigantic storm system — which began as two separate storms, one from the Midwest moving East and the other moving northeast along the Atlantic states — generated high tides and gale force winds along the Atlantic coastal regions.

The snow and ice dipped into the South. Light snow and freezing rain were reported in Tennessee, North Carolina, Alabama and Georgia.

Fleet Flagship Slated For Viet Capital Visit

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The flagship of the U.S. 7th Fleet, the guided missile cruiser Providence, will steam up the Saigon River Saturday for a three-day good-will visit to the South Vietnamese capital.

While 7th Fleet ships visit Saigon from time to time, this will be the first visit by the flagship in several years. It is generally believed that the visit is planned as a strong hint to the Communists that the U.S. military establishment stands solidly behind the new Vietnamese military government.

The war has been going badly for the government since before the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Pape saw his team in the third quarter outscore JU, 21-9, and assume a 46-35 lead to take into the final period.

Important Week Arrives For Ohio Court Powers

By FRITZ HOWELL,
Associated Press Sports Writer

This could be one of the season's most decisive weeks for Ohio's collegiate cagers.

New leaders popped into the picture in the state's three conferences last week, and some of the nation's big-name clubs offer new menaces to hot-shot Buckeye teams the next few days.

For instance: Ohio State, deadlocked with Michigan and Illinois at 2-0 for the Big Ten lead, goes against the 11-1 Wolverines Saturday at Ann Arbor. The 7-3 Buckeyes are underdogs.

Cincinnati's highly ranked 9-3 Bearcats, panting after Saturday's 67-64 victory which snapped a seven-game St. Louis winning streak, face Bradley's 9-4 Braves Wednesday and hope to run their at-home Missouri Valley record to 42 straight. The 'Cats have never lost a league game on the home boards—but they could drop one on the road Saturday as they go against 8-3 Drake on the foreign floor.

Xavier, also 9-3 after Saturday's come-from-behind 83-81 victory at Marquette, entertains Villanova's 11-1 powerhouse Saturday. And Dayton, another 9-3 contender, plays host the same night to DePaul, which has won 11 without a blemish.

While the contests with the national powers hold the spotlight, some home-front frays also command heavy interest.

Miami's Redskins, tops in the Mid-American Conference with 4-0, could wind up among the also-rans. The Oxford crew invades 3-1 Ohio University Wednesday night, with the co-leadership at stake, and then goes against Bowling Green on the Falcon floor Saturday. The latter, with an astounding 1-3 loop record and 3-5 overall, is tough on its own boards. Howard Komives, second in national scoring with a 33.1 average, scored 42 in Saturday's 95-85 loss to Western Michigan, and the Falcon great could be that rough at home.

Miami is the lone team of the 27 in the state's conference to retain a clean loop slate after last week's games. Toledo was beaten twice and Ohio University once for their first blemishes in the Mid-American; both Capital and Mount Union surrendered their clean marks in the Ohio Conference, and Cedarville fell in the Mid-Ohio. On the statewide front only Youngstown's Penguins are unbeaten. They made it 11 straight with a resounding 127-53 victory over Lakeland of Sheboygan, Wis., Saturday night as Dave Culliver contributed the 27 and the other Penguins combined for 100.

Hiram's Terriers, losers of six, are the only quintet without a victory, but they forced Otterbein into overtime Saturday before dropping a 71-67 verdict which sent the Otters into a 6-1 tie with Capital for the Ohio Conference lead.

Ohio State pinned an 85-73 loss on fumbling Minnesota, which held the Bucks without a field goal for the last eight minutes. But Ohio made 17 free throws in that stretch to hang on. In other big Saturday games Ohio U. beat Toledo 70-65, Miami tripped Marshall 75-60, Wittenberg dumped high-scoring Akron 58-38 and Dayton turned back Louisville 67-59.

Jones Appears Successor Of Wilkinson At Oklahoma

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Dr. George L. Cross, president of the University of Oklahoma, endorsed a players' petition Sunday night asking that line coach Gomer Jones be named to succeed Bud Wilkinson as head football coach.

Cross' action should boost the chances of Jones, also believed to be the choice of Wilkinson, who still is athletic director. Wilkinson resigned Saturday as head coach.

However, several members of the Board of Regents, which will make the final decision, have said privately they would like to hire a coach from outside the present staff.

Burton said the petition probably would be submitted to Cross today.

Jones, who will be 50 next month, served as line coach during the 17 years Wilkinson was coach. The former Ohio State lineman previously had served at John Carroll, Ohio State and Nebraska.

Jones, who has developed 10 All-America linemen at Oklahoma, has turned down several head coaching jobs at other schools, but could be expected to accept the Oklahoma job if it is offered.

Girone praised Jones in his relief role and also McGuire who did a bang up job on the backboards.

Wall Takes Golf Crown At San Diego

By BOB MYERS

Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Art Wall Jr., back in the tournament golf spotlight after his victory in the $30,000 San Diego Open, led the professional contingent Monday to one of his favorite shooting grounds.

That would be the Bing Crosby National this weekend, an event in which Wall tide for second a year ago and won in his last really big year in the golfing wars, 1959, when the famed Masters came his way.

The personable, rather retiring Wall returned to national attention Sunday when he polished off the opposition with a carefully-carved par 70, a 72-hole score of 274, six shots under par for the attractive, rolling par 35-35-70 Rancho Bernardo Country Club course.

Tony Lema finished with a rush—30 on the backside—and tied with Bob Rosburg at 276 for second. Rosburg had a 70.

The windup in bright, sunny weather found several erstwhile threats finishing in arrears.

National Open Champion Julius Boros had a 74 for 282; Gene Littler 73 for 280; British Open Champion Bob Charles 66 for 277, and Al Geiberger 71 for 279.

Arnold Palmer, finally shaking off a flu bug which had harassed him all week, rallied with a 66 for 281. It was worth $275 for Palmer, an amount he usually budgets for caddy fees.

Wall confided he told his caddy before setting out, "I hope I can shoot a 70. I think I can win." The score and the prophecy panned out.

This was Arthur Jonathon Wall Jr.'s first major victory since the 1960 Canadian Open.

Several Top-Ranked Clubs Pressed For Cage Victories

Davidson, UCLA Get Late Wins

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Iba can catch Adolph Rupp tonight on the way to Ed Diddle's Club, an exclusive organization which has 700 prerequisites.

Diddle, basketball coach at Western Kentucky, currently is the board of directors and the entire membership of college basketball's 700-victory club. But Iba and Rupp are just about ready to have their applications processed.

Iba can make it 696 victories in a 35-year career if his Oklahoma State Cowboys, co-leaders of the Big Eight Conference, defeat Kansas State tonight. That would move Iba into a tie with Rupp, whose 34 Kentucky teams also have won 696 games. Diddle, the dean, has 755 victories.

Both unranked Oklahoma State and Kentucky, second-ranked in the nation, improved their records on a form-filled Saturday night program — the first this season in which not one member of the top ten came out without a victory.

Oklahoma State rode Gary Hassman's 20-point performance to a 67-56 triumph over Oklahoma, a 10-3 over-all record and a tie with Nebraska for the Big Eight lead at 2-0. A victory against Kansas State tonight will give the Cowboys undisputed possession of first place.

Cotton Nash's 34 points triggered a Kentucky offense that ripped Tulane 105-63, brought the Wildcats' record to 12-2 and left them with a 2-2 Southeastern Conference mark. Kentucky next meets Tennessee, leading the SEC with a 3-0 record.

Besides Kentucky, eight other members of the top ten were in action Saturday — and all won. Third-ranked Loyola of Chicago took the night off.

Top-ranked UCLA and fifth-ranked Davidson, along with DePaul, the only remaining major college unbeaten, had difficulty before subduing stubborn foes.

But DePaul, bidding for a national ranking, ran its record to 11-0 by running over Portland 11-3.

UCLA won its 13th straight behind Gail Goodrich's 23 points and fought off a late bid beating Southern California 78-71.

Davidson overcame a six-point deficit behind Barry Teague and Charlie Marcon and made Virginia its 12th victim, 64-62.

Fourth-ranked Michigan defeated Purdue 77-70, sixth-ranked Oregon State walloped Hawaii 70-44, seventh-ranked Vanderbilt drubbed Mississippi State 90-66, eighth-ranked Cincinnati edged St. Louis 67-64, ninth-ranked Villanova beat St. John's, N.Y., 55-44 and 10th-ranked Duke whipped North Carolina 84-64.

Michigan had trouble with Purdue, an eight-time loser, until Mel Garland and Earl Brown fouled out. The Wolverines, who got a 23-point effort from Bill Runtin, actually won from the foul line by outscoring the Boilermakers 23-10.

Oregon State scored 10 straight points at the end of the first half for a 28-17 lead and continued to pull away from Hawaii in the second half as Mel Counts connected for 17 of his 28 points.

Vanderbilt threw an all-court press at Mississippi State, broke through early and often and brought its record to 12-1. Substitute Wayne Calvert was high scorer for the Commodores with 18 points.

Sophomore John Serkin fired in two baskets in the last 25 seconds to preserve Cincinnati's victory over St. Louis. Ron Bonham and George Wilson shared scoring honors for the Bearcats with 16 points each.

Wally Jones and George Leftwich combined for 38 of Villanova's 55 points against St. John's. Jones, who scored 20, collected two key baskets after the Redmen had closed to within four points in the second half.

Duke rolled to its 24th consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference victory behind Jeff Mullins' 25 points and a good defensive job on the Tar Heels' Billy Cunningham. Cunningham scored 14 points, 11 under his average.

All five DePaul starters scored in double figures — for the sixth time this season. Dennis Freund led the Blue Demons with 29 points while Emmet Bryant contributed 19 against Portland.

Harbin (Red) Lawson is in his 13th season as basketball coach at the University of Georgia.

You're The Skipper Advance Boat Training Pays Off

By JOHN BOHANNAN

The better informed and the more skilled you are in your hobby, the more you will enjoy it. This applies particularly to boating, where mistakes can be costly, or even fatal.

Fortunately, a skipper can acquire as much knowledge as he wants without spending a cent except for textbooks and course materials, thanks to the free public instruction being offered by the United States Power Squadrons and the Canadian Power Squadrons.

During the 24 years I have been a member of the USPS, I have taken every course offered (and taught some) with the exception of marine electronics, and I plan to take this soon.

IT'S TOO BAD most students quit after the beginner's piloting course. This covers only the fundamentals. In my opinion, the wide-spread teaching of this course has been an important factor in reducing the accident rate, but skippers would become far more proficient if they would take at least two more advanced courses.

The first of these is seamanship, giving more detailed training in anchoring, docking and handling a boat under adverse conditions, rescuing a man overboard and other practical subjects so closely associated with safety.

The second is advanced piloting, probably the most valuable course for most boat owners. The AP course gives the student a thorough drill in the everyday necessities of coastwise navigation, including a wide variety of chart problems.

After passing AP, the boat owner should be able to take his craft to distant ports in strange waters, knowing where he is at all times, and making full use of pelorus bearings, soundings, tide and current tables and all aids to navigation.

If you want to race to Bermuda or Hawaii or do any off-shore boating, the Power Squadrons offer two more advanced courses.

Junior navigation covers the various sailings, with trigonometric solutions for various mercator and great circle courses, the fundamentals of celestial navigation and practical experience in taking sights with a sextant.

THIS IS followed by the navigation course, thorough instruction in taking timed altitude measurements of stars and planets and converting these into lines of position for ocean work.

After completing these last two courses, the owner should be able to take his boat anywhere in the world.

Santa Anita Expects To Run Tuesday

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Santa Anita Park, closed for five racing days by a strike that management says cost the track $5 million, will reopen Tuesday in the wake of a weekend settlement, track officials say.

Management and union sources said their 12-hour bargaining session Sunday resulted in a three-year contract guaranteeing, among other things, a 75-cent daily increase now, another in a year and a third the year after that.

About 1,400 employees at this and other tracks would benefit from the $2.25 package, the sources said.

Don Smith of La Jolla, president of the Federation of California Racing Associations, described the settlement as a compromise. "Neither side won," Smith said.

Workers covered in the new contract include pari-mutuel employees, janitors, guards, gate-men, ushers, assistant starters, jockey valets and veterinarian assistants.

Johnny Kerr Joins Sports 'Ironmen'

Johnny Kerr has joined baseball's Lou Gehrig, pro football's Leo Nomellini and hockey's Andy Hebenton on the list of sports "iron men."

Kerr joined the other three Sunday when he played in his 767th consecutive National Basketball Association game, both regular season and playoff, eclipsing the record set by his Philadelphia coach, Dolph Schayes.

Despite Kerr's continuing iron man efforts and a 19-point performance, the 76ers lost to the Boston Celtics, 123-112. Bill Russell scored 22 points and pulled down 30 rebounds for the Celtics, who maintained their two-game lead over Cincinnati in the Eastern Division.

The Royals rode the scoring of Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas to a 120-88 walloping of Detroit. In other games, Gus Johnson sparked Baltimore to a 117-113 victory over St. Louis and San Francisco pulled away in the last period for a 112-105 victory over New York's touring Knickerbockers at Oakland, Calif.

Willie Naulls scored 23 points and Sam Jones 21 for the Celtics, who built a 120-88 first period lead. The 76ers battled back to within 59-53 at the half, but Boston pulled away after that. Chet Walker was the high scorer for Philadelphia with 26 points.

Former jockeys Ted Atkinson, Cal Rainey, Warren Mehrtens and Jimmy Stout are race track stewards.

Platoon System Will Be Allowed

By BEN FUNK

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—After 11 years of frequent and sometimes confusing change, the college football rule makers have adopted a proposal allowing a return to the platoon system.

The coaches have screamed for its return ever since the free and unlimited substitution rule was knocked out of the books after the 1952 season.

Sunday, the football rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association went almost all the way back.

Only one restriction was left in the way. To send a platoon into a game during a period when the clock is running, a team must use one of its time outs.

Otherwise, a coach will be free and unlimited in the switching of his personnel.

"This is what the coaches desired," said elated Jack Curtice, rules chairman of the American Football Coaches Association. He had carried to the committee the plea of 90 per cent of the coaches for an end to rule restrictions.

"This is the nearest they could possibly come to what they wanted," Curtice said. "This is a reasonable rule."

By overwhelming majority, coaches all around the nation applauded the committee's action.

College football's two platoon system was abruptly outlawed in January 1953, and the one way specialist went into discard, when a drastic rule was adopted providing that no player withdrawn from a game could return in the same period.

Almost every year since then, there has been a gradual relaxation of the rule.

Under the new system, platoons may be sent into a game any time the clock is stopped. Two players may enter any time when the clock is running.

There are ample opportunities for platooning without loss of a time out. The clock stops when the ball goes out of bounds or is kicked over the goal. It stops while an official marches off a penalty. It stops during a first down measurement, after an incomplete pass and after a score.

Only when the clock is running, and a team has used all its time outs, will a coach be stymied in his desire to send in a fresh platoon.

Other rules adopted by the committee Sunday will:

Permit the elevation of goal post uprights to any desired height beyond the present maximum of 20 feet. This is to prevent indecision on whether a ball going directly over a post is fair or foul. Borderline kicks would strike the higher post.

Make it a personal foul for a player to ram an opponent in the head, face or neck with his helmet or head.

Make it illegal for any member of a receiving team to advance the ball after a fair catch is signaled on a punt. Previously, the ball could be advanced if it touched ground or an opponent.

Western Conference Continues Hold On East With 31-17 Pro Bowl Score

By CHARLES MAHER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—If the court please, counsel for the Western Conference of the National Football League wishes to offer a third exhibit in support of its claim to superiority over the Eastern Conference. It asks that this be marked Exhibit C and placed in evidence.

The jury will recall that Exhibit A was introduced Dec. 29. That was when the champion Chicago Bears of the Western Conference won the NFL title by defeating New York's Eastern Conference champions 14-10 at Chicago.

Exhibit B was the Playoff Bowl game at Miami Jan. 5. In that one the West's No. 2 team, Green Bay, scored a 40-23 victory over Cleveland, the Eastern Conference runner-up.

Exhibit C is the NFL's 14th annual Pro Bowl game, played Sunday before a crowd of 67,242 and won by the Western Conference All-Stars 31-17.

The Western Conference submits that this sort of thing has been going on, almost without interruption, since 1957. It suggests that since that time the Eastern Conference has probably suffered more reverses than it has pulled in post-season games.

Of the last seven NFL title games, Western Conference teams have won six. In the Pro

Bowl, the West has won six of the last eight.

Against Eastern Conference opponents during the last regular season, the West had a less substantial edge, winning seven games, losing six and tying one.

Baltimore quarterback John Unitas threw two touchdown passes and Green Bay fullback Jim Taylor gained 98 yards rushing Sunday as the West scored its ninth Pro Bowl victory in 14 tries.

Unitas, for the third time in this series, was named Player of the Game. And Baltimore's retiring defensive end, Gino Marchetti, was named Lineman of the Game.

Cleveland fullback Jim Brown scored both of the East's touchdowns and led all rushers with 101 yards in 15 carries. Taylor got his 98 yards in 14 carries, averaging seven yards to Brown's 6.73.

The West, ahead 14-3 at the half, ran its lead to 25 points early in the third period. First Jesse Whitenton of Green Bay intercepted a pass by Washington's Norm Snead and returned the ball 26 yards for a touchdown.

Bobby Mitchell of Washington fumbled returning the next kickoff and Herb Adderley of Green Bay recovered on the East 21. Unitas passed 14 yards to Mike Ditka of Chicago and, on third down, threw a five-yarder to Gail Coghill of Detroit for a touchdown.

That made it 28-3 and the East was defeated.

Brown made his two touchdowns runs, one for eight yards and one for three, in the fourth quarter.

The East led once, 3-0, in the first period. Bill Glass of Cleveland intercepted a pass by Unitas and returned the ball to the West 28, setting up a 30-yard field goal by Sam Baker of Dallas.

But the West went ahead in the same period on a 37-yard touchdown run by Taylor and scored again in the second on a four-yard pass from Unitas to Ray Berry of Baltimore.

The East made the longest gain on a 57-yard pass play from St. Louis quarterback Charley Johnson to Mitchell. The longest run was Taylor's 37-yarder.

Unitas completed eight of 16 passes for 93 yards and Chicago's Bill Wade completed five of nine for 90. For the East, Johnson hit on seven of 15 for 100 yards and Snead completed one of four for nine.

Financier Jailed On Texas Charge

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—Bankrupt financier Paul Amos Sandblom was remanded to the county jail Sunday night in lieu of $25,000 bond after he was arraigned on a charge of violating the Securities and Exchange Act.

Sandblom, 39, surrendered voluntarily to a U. S. deputy marshal at a shopping center. With him were his lawyers, Luther Jones and Oscar Spitz.

Ten creditors filed bankruptcy proceedings against Sandblom last week. The court-appointed receiver, Robert Burke, said he has accounted $27 million allegedly owed by Sandblom and "that figure could easily be doubled." Burke said that so far he has found only about $27,000 in assets.

He was arraigned on a charge of having "caused delivery through the mails of a promissory note for $5,000 to Mr. and Mrs. William H. Hayes of San Jose, Calif."

Defensive back Charley Migyanka of East Conemaugh, Pa., will captain Michigan State's 1964 football team.

That's The Big Question

What Will Smokers Do?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American smoker—still lingering over the grim facts of a federal report branding cigarettes a health hazard—is center stage to a big audience this week.

Legislators, investors, tobacco growers, cigarette manufacturers, legal and health authorities want to know first and foremost: Will he quit or not? Will he cut down? What will happen to cigarette sales?

Just how loud will the public reaction to the federal report be?

On those questions hinge a number of important decisions in coming days.

The tobacco companies have been invited to meet with the Television Code Review Board in Miami Beach Jan. 22-23. Subject: The federal report and what it means to cigarette advertising on television.

The American Cancer Society's board of directors meets this month to assess educational campaigns against cigarette smoking, called by the federal report the major cause of lung cancer, the leading fatal malignancy in men.

Several bills will be introduced designed to better arm federal agencies to regulate the sale and advertising of cigarettes and to force the cautionary labeling of cigarettes as potentially hazardous.

Federal courts may be the scene of another test of the scientific report. Will it encourage further damage suits against tobacco companies by lung cancer victims? Will it improve their chance of collecting?

The new report—14 months in the making—cited cigarette smoking as the major cause of lung cancer, a significant cause of cancer of the larynx, and associated it with a number of other cancers from those of the oral cavity to the bladder.

And there was an association—but not yet a proof of cause—between cigarettes and heart and blood vessel disease, and peptic ulcers.

So strong is the evidence of health hazard, the committee said, that it called for corrective action.

The surgeon general's Advisory Committee on Smoking and Health surprised most observers with the strength of its denunciation of cigarette smoking. Even an official of the American Cancer Society, long an enemy of cigarettes, said he was pleasantly surprised by the forthrightness of the report.

But there appeared to be initial caution on the part of regulatory federal agencies—despite assurances the report would be studied closely and that there would be no foot-dragging in filling what the scientific committee called a need for remedial action.

The Tobacco Institute, speaking for the industry, reiterated earlier stands it has made to the lung cancer charges.

George V. Allen, institute president, said the surgeon general's report would get careful study and that it was not the last chapter in the cigarette story. He called for more research.

Few persons close to the situation—even avowed enemies of smoking—consider the possibility of a prohibition of cigarettes. Even Sen. Maurice Neuberger, D-Ore., said in her recent book attacking smoking that prohibition would not work.

But she does plan to introduce two bills this week, one to put a cautionary label on cigarettes, the other to start a federal educational program against cigarette smoking.

The success of either proposal in Congress will certainly depend on public demand, and how heavy it weighs against a $7.3 billion-a-year industry and the economic impact on 750,000 tobacco-producing farm families.

Sales slid when the American Cancer Society in 1954 link smoking to a shorter life, lung cancer and other disease, but sales soon recovered.

In the United States sales of cigarettes continue to grow each year. And so do the numbers of deaths from lung cancer. The yearly toll is now 41,000.

Tobacco stocks on the New York Stock Exchange, however, have never quite got over the traumatic linkage of cigarettes and lung cancer. The levels are on the low side of some middle ground, and far from historic highs.

Courthouse Is Due, First In 6½ Years

SANDY HOOK, Ky. (AP) — Elliott County expects to have a courthouse by the summer of 1964, its first in 6½ years.

Fire destroyed the courthouse and jail at Sandy Hook late in 1957.

While county officials moved into temporary quarters, a good part of the insurance collected on the property was used to build a new jail.

A $100,000 bond issue was voted and finally approved in a court test. The county had to wait, though, for a $102,000 federal grant before it was ready to start a new courthouse.

Elliott County is in mountainous Eastern Kentucky, 175 miles east of Louisville.

Driver Cited After Freight Smashes Car

A city man's auto was demolished early this morning when struck by an eastbound Pennsylvania Railroad freight train at the Walnut St. crossing.

Police cited Bruce V. Adkins of Thompson Pl. for abandoning his car on a public highway. He posted a $32.50 bond for a hearing in Municipal Court.

Adkins said his car stalled on the crossing about 1:25 a. m. and he left for a service station to get help. He told police he left the parking lights of the 1957 sedan turned on.

A. H. Logan of Freedom, engineer of the 130-car freight, and O. J. Winder of Canton, fireman, said they spotted the car on the tracks but were unable to stop to avoid the crash. There were no lights on the auto, they said.

Witnesses also told officers there were no lights on the car about a minute before it was struck by the train. Officers listed the other witnesses as Paul Ziegler of Lorain, train conductor, and Ed Flowers, 1260 Ohio Ave.

The crash also damaged the right side of the diesel locomotive and broke the fuel gauge, police said.

A collision at 6:42 p. m. Sunday on Broadway involved a car operated by Jasper Adams, 39, of Bluff St. and a parked 1957 auto of John William Blackstone, 319 Broadway.

Adams told police he started to pull from the curb when he saw an approaching truck and applied his brakes. The brakes failed and he cut his wheels toward the curb and hit the Blackstone car, he said. There was minor damage, police said.

Robert Eagle, 33, of 410 E. 3rd St., told police the left side and rear of his 1953 sedan were damaged when struck by a hit-skip motorist Saturday at 8:30 p. m. on Pennsylvania Ave. at College St.

Eagle said he was headed west when an eastbound motorist, driving at a high rate of speed, hit his car and continued without stopping.

Milestone Finds No Time Or Money In TV

Lewis Milestone, one of the few really stellar film directors, rarely lends his name to television.

"I got in and found out what it was all about, then quit," he says, without bitterness. He directed "The Richard Boone Show" on NBC-TV.

Tuesday Hal Humphrey night at 9, but only because Boone is a close friend.

The Hollywood TV film factories don't pay enough money to the creative people, and they put too much premium on speed for Milestone's taste.

"WHEN TELEVISION first started, everyone in our business was asked to work for less," he recalls. "Television was referred to then as a child being born. 'Give it a chance to live,' we were told.

"Well, it has lived — and how! Producers of TV series make millions of dollars. Danny Thomas and his partner, Sheldon Leonard, have an empire. I hear they are buying real estate along Wilshire Blvd. in Hollywood.

"But," Milestone adds, "actors, writers and directors are not making any of this money unless they can demand and get a piece of the series."

In a moment of weakness recently, Milestone signed to do one of the "Arrest and Trial" episodes at Revue Productions, the colossus of TV film factories.

AFTER FOUR OR FIVE days of getting up at 6 in the morning and working into the night "Arrest and Trial" has a nine-day shooting schedule. Milestone says he felt a cold coming on and asked one of the crew for an antihistamine. "You haven't been feeling well, have you?" executive producer Frank Rosenberg asked Milestone the next day, revealing that Revue has an excellent central intelligence system working.

Despite Milestone's assurance that he would be on his feet to finish the film, another director was brought in, and Milestone was told, "You are after a quality we don't need in these films."

"I CAN WORK as fast as anyone, but I prefer to choose my own speed. These TV producers kick themselves. The overtime each day on a nine-day schedule probably increases their budget more than an extra three or four regular shooting days would," says Milestone.

In 1939, Milestone directed John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" in 36 days, an unheard-of schedule for a Class A picture in those days. Milestone had to drop a lawsuit against a producer in exchange for an okay to make the picture, which was considered too 'arty' for commercial success.

"Everybody said it didn't make money. But I remember meeting Steinbeck in New York 12 years after it was released, and he asked, 'What's happened this year, Lewis? My royalty check from the picture was only $17,000.'"

MILESTONE was impressed with Dick Boone's TV repertory company. He was allowed a full week's rehearsal before bringing in the cameras.

It also was his first opportunity in a career dating back to silent films to direct a Western.

"Actually, the story is based on Chekhov's 'The Bear,' but it does perfectly in a Western setting," he says.

Does Milestone see any hope for some of TV's profits being plowed into experimental-type shows?

"NO, I DON'T think it will change. Years ago we said the B-movies were supposed to be the industry's experimental field. But the writers, directors and producers found there wasn't the same money in them as the A pictures, so they all left, and B pictures just went on being B pictures."

Milestone plans a trip soon to Yugoslavia, where he will make two movies, both partially subsidized by the Yugoslav government.

"There's nothing complex about this so-called 'runaway' movie production. You can't get the financing here, so you go where you can," he says.

Magacapal Proposes Meeting On Malaysia

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal today proposed a meeting with Malaysian Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman to discuss their differences over Malaysia.

The Filipino Foreign Office said Macapagal was encouraged by the results of his recent meeting with President Sukarno of Indonesia and hoped to meet the Tunku "at the earliest possible opportunity."

In Kuala Lumpur, political sources indicated the Malaysian government would welcome the proposal.

The Philippines and Indonesia do not recognize Malaysia, which was formed in September, but Macapagal is less militant in his opposition than Sukarno and has been trying to mediate between him and Abdul Rahman.

3rd Blast Rocks Ashtabula Plant

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Windows in a plant of the strike-bound Molded Fiber Glass Body Co. were shattered by a dynamite explosion Sunday — the third such blast in Ashtabula in a week but the first to damage company property.

The explosion apparently was aimed at knocking out a transformer which carries electricity to the body company's nearby Ann Avenue plant, police said.

A dispute over union shop and seniority issues resulted in a strike against the firm last Oct. 17 by Local 1169, United Auto Workers.

Two explosions last Monday broke windows at the Ashtabula County Savings & Loan Co. and a beer and wine carry-out store. Police said those blasts may have been connected with the labor troubles at Molded Fiber Glass.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Parents Should Be Calm In Crisis

Every baby and child will sometimes get hurt from a bump, bruise or cut. How this child will react then will depend on how calmly and skillfully his parents handle the situation.

You and I notice that the doctor or nurse at such times is very calm, never uttering Dr. Garry Meyers a sound or movement to suggest fear. With faith in his or her own skill, the doctor or nurse devotes all attention to the best possible physical care of the child.

There's never a waver of fear of how this youngster will respond. Any such fear would diminish the skill.

Of course, it's no one's child but yours. Yet in all cases of first aid, you need to try to emulate the doctor or nurse. By watching these skilled specialists at work and by studying manuals on simple first aid, you can also cultivate more skill and control of yourself.

WHEN YOUR infant gets his first cut or bump, your impulse is to grab him up, uttering anxious sounds you hope will soothe. But by your voice, demeanor and movements you may betray your fears.

The injury may have been so slight that the baby might not even cry till after you have betrayed your fear and anxiety. Next time and the next, when the child is hurt, however slightly, you may show no more self-control.

Your behavior then may set off his crying, even screaming, which in turn will intensify your fears. By and by, the slightest bump or even loss of balance may cause this child to cry.

Later, when first aid seems necessary, both you and the youngster may grow panicky. When you finally get him to the doctor, both of you may be near hysteria.

All experiences like these tend to build up in the youngster fear of the physician; also fear of the dentist. When this child is four, eight or 12 and must have immediate first aid which you should be able to administer with dexterity, he may begin to howl and scream at the mere suggestion that he is to have emergency treatment.

WHEN SUCH A situation arises, resolve to administer the first aid with the greatest possible dispatch. If some reliable person is available, enlist him or her to restrain the youngster from struggling.

You may be tempted to try to explain and persuade while your voice grows more shrill and your movements and intentions more uncertain until both you and the youngster become hysterical and the first aid may have to be delayed or abandoned.

A similar problem is the child, six, eight or older, who needs dental treatment but is so fearful that you can't get him to the dental office; or if he's taken there, by force, he may be so wrought up that the dentist can't win his slightest cooperation.

Such a case becomes a serious problem for the most skillful dentist. He may have to spend excessive time and patience during several visits to win the child's confidence and cooperation. What makes such problems so difficult is that the parent is not inclined to expect the dentist to bill her in proportion to the time he must spend to obtain success.

FROM THE infant's early weeks and months, he needs to be prepared gradually to accept first aid stoically and to learn there is little or nothing to fear from the doctor or the dentist. Fortunately, some dentists are so skillful with the child from his first visit that the youngster practically never experiences any problem with fear at all.

Ohio Has Been At 'War' With Smoking For Years

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An unpublicized war against smoking—especially teen-age smoking—has been under way on several Ohio battlefields for years.

"Educational programs" on smoking, carried on by several organizations and for the most part not connected, have been in actuality campaigns to keep the young from starting to smoke and to cause adults to stop.

The only action taken officially by the state has been establishment last year of an Ohio Smoking and Health Committee by the Department of Health, in cooperation with the Ohio Department of Education, to write a booklet, titled "Will Your Students Smoke?", as a guide for teachers.

Dr. Robert H. Browning, director of the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital in Columbus, who was chairman of the committee, said the booklet was aimed at discouraging junior and senior high school students from taking up smoking and received wide usage in schools throughout the state. A second edition is in the works.

The pamphlet outlined a program for teaching ways to stop youngsters from smoking with passages such as "how smoking affects the death rate." And according to Dr. Browning, it stressed how hard it is to "kick the habit" once it is begun.

A spokesman for the Health Department commented candidly that the pamphlet is likely to be the state's only public opposition to smoking for awhile—since it will be trying to pay off a $250 million bond issue for capital improvements through a penny-a-pack cigarette tax. "That's a lot of cigarettes," he noted.

Probably the most active campaigner against smoking is the American Cancer Society which carries on a continuing program in the schools through distribution of visual matter, films, slide presentations, pamphlets, records and talks on the effects of smoking.

Dr. Jack Miles, president of the Franklin County society (Columbus), said that this year his unit is reaching down as far as the fifth grade to "get them early." The Columbus Academy of Medicine cooperates by sending doctors to the schools for speeches and to answer questions the students may have. In Columbus alone, 226 grammar schools are encompassed by the program.

Sukarno Denies He's 'Great Man'

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Indonesian President Sukarno and Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodia's chief of state, had a friendly disagreement Sunday over whether Sukarno is a great man.

Sukarno modestly took the negative.

Sukarno, making an official visit to Cambodia, was made an honorary citizen of the port of Sihanoukville. He said the honor made him happy, but he would prefer to be a simple citizen of the town.

"Even though I am president of the Indonesian Republic," he said, "I am not a great man."

Sihanouk, who was translating Sukarno's speech from English into Cambodian, protested: "You are a great man, one of the greatest statesmen in the world."

Sukarno turned to his host and said: "You are the Cambodian chief of state, but now you have only the job of translating my words."

General laughter followed.

Army Engineers Slate Talks On River Level

CINCINNATI (AP) — Persons with a professional interest in a rising Ohio River — bridge builders, highway officials and operators of craft carrying tall cargoes—have been invited to an open meeting here Jan. 28. The meeting is sponsored by the U.S. Army Engineers, who have the responsibility for regulating river traffic.

At present the "high rigs" are defined as "all heavy vessels, towboats excepted, which require vertical clearance in excess of 40 feet when shipped up for transit."

Under present conditions, "high rigs" sometimes have been held up for days when they could not pass under Ohio River bridges because of high water. This situation will become worse when the river's surface is raised due to new dams.

Microorganisms are growing over the magnificent paintings created by Cro-Magnon artists 20,000 years ago on the walls of Laxcaux Cave in France.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Help Your Husband Wish Himself Thin

When the head of the house tries to "wish himself thin," that's the time for the homemaker to use all her culinary skill, plus her famed feminine tact. One homemaker, in asking help, explains her dilemma.

"My husband implores me to put him on a diet. How — I ask you! After his evening meal, if he gets up from the table not quite satisfied, he eats: Chocolate candy, peanuts both salted and sugared, ginger snaps, cookies, ice cream, etc. If I quit having them around he asks for them.

"PLEASE ADVISE me whether a man, weighing approximately 175 pounds for 5'8" should be placed on 1245 calories per day. He's healthy, happy and 72 years young. Won't you help us both to lose?" she urges.

Delighted, but forget the word diet. Quite obviously the head of the house is allergic to the very word, as who isn't! Furthermore, a diet that is so low in calories that it leads to nibbling all evening on assorted carbohydrates defeats the purpose.

The mistake many couples make in attempting to reduce is to cut calories drastically. For age 65 and past, a man can normally use 2500 calories a day, and a woman 1800 per day. A satisfying reducing diet would be 1800 calories a day for Mr. and 1200 a day for the Mrs. By this deduction, a deficit of 700 calories a day is established for the man and 600 for the wife. Result: More than a pound a week weight loss. There are 3,500 calories in one pound of body fat.

Now that you know the score, forget calories and plan good meals. When calories are over-emphasized, you do not enjoy the really good food you can eat while losing weight.

WHERE DO YOU START to trim calories? With the fats. By cutting down on total fats, and keeping animal fats low, you will be doing something about one important controllable factor in the list of suspected causes of heart disease.

Dinner seems to be the problem meal. Plan dinner according to a pattern. Serve a satisfying portion of protein, ¼ pound, cooked weight of lean meat, fish or chicken. Roast, simmer, rotisserie or pan fry. Fat-laden gravy can be avoided. To de-fat, refrigerate part of the drippings when the roast is half done. Remove the layer of fat that hardens on top, and make the gravy from the juices, devoid of fat.

A satisfying dinner contains one starchy food ... a choice of potato, corn, rice or bread. The margarine or butter used for flavoring vegetables should be a half pat, or half teaspoon.

Dinner, summed up, is this: Meat, a potato for Mr. and a bling all evening on assorted carbohydrates defeats the purpose. The mistake many couples make in attempting to reduce is to cut calories drastically. For age 65 and past, a man can normally use 2500 calories a day, and a woman 1800 per day. A satisfying reducing diet would be 1800 calories a day for Mr. and 1200 a day for the Mrs. By this deduction, a deficit of 700 calories a day is established for the man and 600 for the wife. Names, Address Needed On Cards In Voter Signup

Employees of the County Election Board aren't mind readers but some city residents apparently think so.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, emphasized today the necessity for residents to sign their names and addresses to postal cards they can mail back to the board to reinstate their voting registration.

The board mailed out 797 double cards to voters whose names were removed from the registration roles at the end of the year. All that is required to reinstate the registration is for the voter to sign his name and address and mail the self-addressed card back to the board. O'Hanlon explained.

The return cards do not list the name or address to which it was sent and the signature is necessary, both for identification and comparison with the card in the board's files.

But cards are being returned with messages but without the name and address, the clerk said. "Thanks. Happy New Year". Another merely said, "Paul has moved to Akron."

"But we have no idea who Paul is," O'Hanlon explained.

Only 50 of the cards have been returned so far, he said. The deadline to return the cards is Feb. 3 after which residents must appear personally at the board's office to reregister.

Indonesia Sentences Figure In 1963 Riots

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — A former Bogor municipal official, Dr. Abdurachman, has been sentenced to six years in prison as a key figure in the May 1963 anti-Chinese riots which swept western and central Java.

The sentence was the longest to come out of numerous trials of so-called counter-revolutionary elements accused of touching off the riots. Abdurachman was vice chairman of the Bogor Legislative Council.

Youth, 19, Held For Slaying Girl In Central Park

NEW YORK (AP) — A youth described by police as a "bright, nice kid" sobbed bitterly in court Sunday as he was arraigned in the murder of his sweetheart.

Richard F. Bell Jr., 19, a telephone switchman from Blauvelt, N.Y., is accused of strangling 18-year-old Carole Yvonne Hughes of Pearl River, N.Y., in Central Park Friday night. Her body was found Sunday.

Bell was arraigned on a homicide charge and held without bail.

Police said Bell admitted strangling Miss Hughes with her scarf after she told him she was pregnant and demanded an early marriage.

Police said an autopsy showed she was not pregnant.

Jersey Fire Kills Mother, 26, And Eight Youngsters

PORT NORRIS, N.J. (AP) — Flames destroyed a two-room frame house, killing Mrs. Virginia Johnson and her eight children Sunday.

The bodies of Mrs. Johnson, 26, and four children were found near a door. The door opened inward and was blocked by a bed.

The dead children were David, 11; Roxanne, 10; Alice Jean, 9; Daniel, 7; Margaret, 6; Virginia, 4; Tracy Lee, 2 and Nicky, 10 months.

Their father, David D. Johnson, was on an oyster boat in the Atlantic Ocean at the time.

State trooper Robert Warner said the fire was started by a wood burner. There was no insulation under the burner, which was about six inches off the floor, and heat set the floor on fire, Warner said.

Fishermen Rescued

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP) — Catwaba Volunteer firemen late Sunday rescued nine Lake Erie fishermen who were in danger of floating away on cracking ice. The rescue operation, carried out with ice taxis, stripped down cars that were driven out to the fishermen — was hampered by strong winds and poor visibility.

REGULAR MILK

HOMOGENIZED

QUESTION: What is homogenized milk and how is it made?

ANSWER: When milk comes from a cow, it is composed mainly of globules of butterfat floating in water--this combination of an oily or fatty substance with a watery one being called an emulsion. As the milk stands, the butterfat globules come together and form a layer of cream at the top of the bottle. This is fine for people who want to use cream in various ways; but most people, like the boy at the right, like to drink milk which has the cream evenly distributed so that it has a rich, full taste. To do this, milk processors force the milk through machines which bring great pressure upon it--about 2,000 pounds per square inch. Under this pressure, the milk goes through many minute holes, and these break up the large butter fat globules into smaller ones. This process is called homogenization and it results in the butter being evenly distributed, so that each drop of milk has the same butterfat content as every other drop.

Americans are so fond of homogenized milk that three fourths of the milk produced in the United States is treated in this way.

FOR YOU TO DO: After homogenizing some of the milk, the next step is to "pasteurize" it. Find out what this means and how it is done.

1963 Municipal Court Funds Up

With a 52 per cent increase in city criminal cases in 1963, both Municipal Court's revenue and the amount it turned over to the city showed increases over 1962 but both were under the 1961 totals, Clerk Wilbur J. Harmon said today in a year-end report.

The court's revenue last year totaled $43,004, a gain of $1,419 over the 1962 income of $41,585. The 1961 receipts were $44,234.

The court turned over $39,550 to the city treasury last year, a boost of $2,363 over the 1962 total of $37,187. In 1961, the city received $40,328.

The amount turned over to the city's general fund was $18,560 more than the court's expenses of $20,996, Harmon noted.

It included $6,923 in costs from civil actions and $32,627 in fines, costs and forfeitures in city criminal cases. Income from the criminal cases was up $3,023 from the $29,604 reported in 1962, more than offsetting a drop of $660 in civil costs from 1962's total of $7,583.

Civil costs turned over to the city by month were: January, $654; February, $659; March, $835; April, $1,038; May, $659; June, $372; July, $594; August, $576; September, $352; October, $429; November, $496, and December, $253.

THE MONTHLY breakdown of fines and costs the city received from criminal cases was: January, $2,135; February, $2,039; March, $2,460; April, $3,704; May, $2,850; June, $2,119; July, $4,059; August, $2,031; September, $2,888; October, $3,491; November, $2,344, and December, $2,501.

The court also turned over $1,643 to the county treasurer, $640 to the state treasurer, and $1,170 to the Law Library Association.

The total handled by the court last year was $121,990, down $2,029 from the $124,019 of 1962. Last year's amount included $77,103 in the civil branch and $44,886 in criminal cases.

A total of 1,817 cases were filed in 1963 compared to 1,556 in 1962 and 1,894 in 1961. The court disposed of 1,825 cases last year and 329 are pending. In 1962, the court disposed of 1,547 and there were 337 pending.

THE BIG INCREASE was in city criminal cases with 719 filed in 1963 compared to 472 in 1962. The court disposed of 695 with 75 still pending.

The year also saw 449 state criminal cases filed against 428 in 1962. There were 462 disposed of last year with 99 pending. A total of 649 civil actions were filed compared to 656 in 1962. There were 668 disposed of and 155 pending.

Language Problem

No Problem At All

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—When Orlando Bosch Jr., was born in Miami of Cuban exile parents, his mother moaned:

"Now we won't be able to talk to him because he's an American."

Orlando is 3 now, and speaks only Spanish.

His four school-age Cuban brothers and sisters speak fluent English as well as Spanish.
